Local Boy Heads For Spelling Bee

Gary Barringer, an eighth-grade student at Westgate Junior High, will be heading for Washington, D.C., and the National Spelling Bee Sunday.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Barringer of Princeton Ave., who plan to be on hand to cheer him on to what they hope will be victory.

Gary will be competing against 68 other champion spellers from various parts of the United States and is going to Washington as the result of his victory May 3 during the The Canton Repository regional spelling contest. He will be representing schools from Columbiana, Stark, Tuscarawas and Carroll counties.

Gary is the first East Liverpool contestant to capture the regional crown.

He will board a Baltimore and Ohio train at Youngstown early Sunday night and is scheduled to arrive in Washington at 7:10 a.m. Monday.

D. Dean Roach, The Repository school editor, will accompany Gary during the train trip and will be his companion at the many activities scheduled in conjunction with the bee. Mr. and Mrs. Barringer plan to leave for Washington Monday evening.

It will be a fun-filled, exciting and rewarding week for Gary, who has not been wasting too much time since he won the regional crown.

He has put in many hours since then boning up on his spelling words with the help of his mother.

The national spelling bee itself will not begin until 9 a.m. Wednesday, with the windup and selection of the national champion expected by noon Thursday.

The Repository's 1962 champion, Pam Lieser of Dover, placed 50th in a field of 69 contestants when she lost out in the sixth round after misspelling the word "imprimatur".

In previous years the order of spelling for the contestants was determined by the alphabetical name of the respective newspapers sponsoring them. This year, however, it will be determined by a drawing.

It May Be Woman

New Cumberland To Get New Mayor At Election

NEW CUMBERLAND — The village will have a new mayor July 1 for the first time in a dozen years — and it may be a woman.

Mrs. John Paul Jones is one of four candidates seeking the mayor's post in Tuesday's nonpartisan election.

She became the first of her sex elected to Town Council in 1961, running without opposition.

Mayor Albert (Jakie) Fuccy is not seeking re-election this year. He is ending his sixth consecutive two-year term in office.

Besides Mrs. Jones, other candidates for mayor are James I. Cullen, a loser to Mayor Fuccy in 1961, Samuel A. Minesinger, and Welty M. Vulgamore Jr. Another candidate, Arthur Watson, withdrew last month.

Village residents will also elect one Council member from the First Ward, two from the Second Ward, and one or two from the Third Ward.

John (Pete) Bailey and John R. Arbogast Jr. are opponents in the First Ward. One will be elected to a four-year term. Robert P. Harris Jr. is unopposed for a four-year term in the Third Ward. Two will be elected for two- and four-year terms in the Second Ward, and the candidates are Ralph M. Ward, Charles Haynes and Joseph Burskey.

Residents will also ballot on a proposal to authorize additional levies for 1964-66 for the fire department, community house and playgrounds. The levy would be 5 cents on Class I property, 10 cents on Class II, and 20 cents on Class IV.

10-Week Strike Ends

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The 250 production workers at Alside, Inc., will return to their jobs Sunday night. A 3-year contract was ratified Friday by members of United Steelworkers Local 5144, ending a 10-week strike.

2 Men Injured As Rig Hits Embankment

One Listed 'Serious' At Hospital; Driver Cited In 2nd Crash

Two Pennsylvania men were hospitalized after their steel - laden tractor - trailer truck crashed into an embankment on the Williamsport Hill on Route 7 beyond Beaver Local High School Friday night at 8:15.

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol said the rig, driven by Clarence Black, 39, of Washington, Pa., was headed north. Black failed to negotiate a curve, went off the right side of the highway and slammed into the embankment.

His companion, Albert Moore, 40, also of Washington, was in "serious" condition with a dislocated right hip and multiple lacerations of the body.

Both are employed by the Eclipse Motor Co. of Bridgeport. The rig was heavily damaged.

Two county women were injured in a one - car crash on Route 14 just over a mile east of Route 7 at 2:05 a. m. today.

Officers said Brenda Drennoski, 21, of Leetonia was driving west when she lost control of her car on a curve. It went off the left side of the road and struck a fence.

She suffered contusions of the lower ribs and side. A passenger, Carol Stump, 26, of Main St., Washingtonville, suffered contusions of the right hip. Both were treated at Salem City Hospital. The driver was cited for unsafe operation.

Actress Zasu Pitts Dies Of Cancer At 63

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Zasu Pitts, famous for her comic look of dismay and her fluttery hands, is dead of cancer at 63.

The veteran actress was the wife of John E. Woodall, Los Angeles businessman and former tennis star. She entered Good Samaritan Hospital Thursday and died Friday.

Although she became famous as a comedienne, Miss Pitts began her motion picture and stage career in serious roles. Her first part was with Mary Pickford in "The Little Princess," which she got by simply going to a studio casting window and asking for it.

Funeral services have not been announced.

Race Issue Pops Up In House Vote

Dixie Democrats' Cooperation With President Reversed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A whisper of a racial issue turned up in the House this week, and the marked cooperation of Southern Democrats with President Kennedy's administration was dramatically reversed.

The change of the tide came on an amendment to a bill extending the President's reorganization powers.

Backed by Republicans and carried 227 to 174 in the House, this provision would deny the President the right to create new executive departments under the reorganization procedure.

Democrats from the old Confederate states voted 63 to 18, for the amendment, recreating at least for the occasion the coalition with Republicans that had gone into the discard in five previous test votes this year.

"I didn't think anything about it at all," said one Southern Democrat who has consistently supported administration measures.

"Then somebody reminded me that this tied in with the fight on creating a Department of Urban Affairs. So, of course, I had to vote for the amendment."

One of Kennedy's major defeats last year was Congress' refusal to authorize creation of this department. He had let it be known that he intended to appoint Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver, a Negro, to the Cabinet-level secretaryship that would have been set up.

Voting against the proposal in February 1962 were 111 Democrats, most of them from the South, and 153 Republicans.

Republicans who oppose the Urban Affairs Department have cited economy and dislike of federal intervention in local affairs as their reasons. The proposal accordingly illustrates the toughest possible task for administration lieutenants. Racial considerations impel Southern Democrats to oppose the administration, while Republicans can base their opposition on other grounds.

Last Tuesday's vote dramatizes the dilemma of Southern members who basically support Kennedy but feel their constituents will not tolerate any vote that looks like yielding to the new militancy for Negro objectives being demonstrated in Birmingham, Jackson, and elsewhere.

Need Help In Finding Ghostly Baby Killer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A team of medical detectives—hunting a ghostly and epidemic killer of babies—is baffled and looking for help.

The epidemic of birth defects struck last fall in Atlanta, Ga., and laid 16 newborn vulnerable to death. Only two survived.

The defect was a ballooning of spinal cord tissue at the base of the spine, a meningomyelocele. It leaves a child open to infection of the nervous system and to hydrocephalus, the trapping of fluid in the cranium, causing enlargement of the head and sometimes brain damage.

Doctors knew that the spinal cord forms in the first 28 days of pregnancy, often before a woman knows she is pregnant, before she has seen a doctor.

The question that haunted doctors was: Did some common factor—disease, drug or diet—occur in all the cases?

They got on the case early, in September, while the trail was still hot. They took blood samples from victims and from mothers.

Nothing proved out, said Dr. Marvin Boris, U.S. Public Health Service epidemiologist. He worked closely with Dr. Richard Blumberg, head of pediatrics at Emory University.

They then sat down with the mothers, asked them to remember back to the critical periods of their pregnancies, back to the last month of 1961, the first two months of 1962.

All too aware of the explosion of deformed babies caused by the tranquilizer thalidomide in Europe, they charted drug histories: What tranquilizers, cough syrups, vitamins, pills did you take?

Again nothing added up.

An influenza epidemic had hit Atlanta about the critical period. Was the influenza virus the culprit? Any other virus disease? Was anyone else in the family sick, with anything, smallpox, polio, measles, mononucleosis, anything?

Again there was no answer.

The women had come from various parts of Atlanta, the babies were born in various hospitals, the mothers didn't know each other, used different food sources.

The birth defects were occurring at a rate of 421 per 100,000 births. The normal rate was a sixth of this, about 75 per 100,000 births. Oddly, the nonwhite birth date was normal, with the defects occurring in about 30 of every 100,000 births.

After the epidemic had passed the rate returned to normal. But the doctors, looking back on 14 young deaths, want to know what ghostly killer passed this way.

Vatican Workers Facing Problem

BULLETIN

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church named two commissions today to supervise arrangements for the conclave that will meet June 19 to choose the successor to Pope John XXIII.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Workmen at Vatican City grappled today with a major housing problem, finding accommodations for the largest conclave of cardinals in history.

More than half of the 82 members of the Sacred College were already in Rome and most of the others were expected by Monday. They will begin electing a successor to Pope John XXIII June 19.

Prelates here from the United States were James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles, Joseph Elmer Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis, and Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago.

Still due were Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston.

While the princes of the Roman Catholic Church prepared to choose a new ruler, the world's half billion Roman Catholics continued mourning for the departed Pope.

Lines of praying Catholics moved past the tomb of Pope John in the dimly lit grotto of St. Peter's Basilica on the second of the nine days of formal mourning.

Ban Removed On Hancock Tax Hearings

An injunction which interrupted protest hearings of Hancock County taxpayers May 27 was dissolved this morning in Circuit Court by Judge James G. McClure.

Following the ruling, which lifted the ban against hearing protests of taxpayers, Hancock County Commissioners resumed tax hearings in the Courthouse in New Cumberland.

Commissioners willl also sit as a Board of Equalization and Review Monday morning at 10, the final day in which protests against 1963 tax assessments may be filed.

A group of Weirton taxpayers had asked a writ of mandamus at today's hearing to prohibit commissioners from hearing further protests and voiding proceedings thus far.

They had also asked that commissioners be prohibited from signing any statement of acceptance or approval or of completion to any set of property books increasing the assessed valuations of real property in the county over those assessed valuations approved, accepted and completed on Feb. 28.

Briefs are to be submitted to Judge McClure within eight days,

Council Calls Special Meeting For Monday

Council is slated to act on several pieces of legislation regarding the 9th St. overpass and improvements to St. Clair Ave. in a special meeting Monday night at 7 in City Hall, Charles Edwards, president, said.

A change in specifications regarding the type of sewer to be laid on the St. Clair Ave. project will be one of the discussion topics.

Edwards said the session was called by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet.

Foundation's First Awards

21 Students In District Presented Scholarships

Twenty-one area students received scholarships at the first annual Citizens Scholarship Foundation awards dinner Friday night at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church. It was attended by 129.

Fr. Joseph Bennett of St. Aloysius Catholic Church gave the invocation. Joseph D. Coons, foundation president, welcomed the guests and introduced the speaker, R. C. Fabian, supervisor of educational programs for the Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Fabian pointed out that since man was created in the image of God, "his computer, or brain, is far superior to the computing machine. . . if it is developed and molded properly." He discussed the molding process by parents, educators and experience, pointing out that man is like the classic poem, "A Chambered Nautilus," limited only by his shell.

"If man's world expands," he said, "man will come closer to God. A man can only expand through knowledge".

Coons outlined the method of selection by the 12 - member awards committee. The point system used gives up to 55 points for need, 37 for scholarship and 5 each for leadership and employment.

The scholarships were presented by representatives of the major donors.

The recipients were:

Marjorie Lynn Hughey, daughter of Mrs. Mary Hughey, 1839 Ohio Ave., Wittenburg University, teaching, $500.

William F. Krieger, ward of Thomas S. Cloran of Lisbon St. Ext., Baldwin-Wallace College, music teacher, $500.

Janet Louise Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ferguson, 965 Township Line Rd., Wellsville, Ohio State University, teacher, $500.

Donald Glenn Pucci, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Pucci, 712 Diamond St., Wellsville, Steubenville College, teaching, $500.

Kennedy Sets His Sights On Women's Vote

Meet At Breakfast; Tags Gov. Brown For Speaking Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Kennedy left missiles behind today and began bearing down on politics, courting the women's vote after lining up California's governor as an informal political agent.

Kennedy, winding up three days of military displays in the three states, arranged a midmorning appearance at a breakfast meeting of Democratic women. This was only a few hours after attending another dining session Friday night limited to party contributors in the $1,000 class.

Earlier Friday Kennedy tagged California Gov. Edmund G. Brown to undertake a speaking tour throughout the West.

The chief executive showed up Friday night at the senior prom of John Burroughs High School of surburban Burbank to make amends for nearly bumping the graduating class from the main ballroom in Kennedy's hotel.

Originally California Democrats planned to move the Burbank seniors from the grand ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel to make way for the President and his $1,000-a-plate affair. But Kennedy vetoed the idea—once he heard of the seniors' plight—and arranged for the party dinner to be held in the same hotel but in two smaller rooms with a more restricted seating capacity than the ballroom.

Integration Showdown Set Tuesday

Gov. Wallace Vows To Block 2; Plans Broadcast Sunday

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Bright yellow barricades isolated the University of Alabama campus today as segregationist leaders urged their followers to combat integration with dollars instead of violence.

Eugene (Bull) Connor, the militant former Birmingham police commissioner, called for a massive boycott of white merchants who advocate racial equality or erase the color line in their stores.

Hundreds of law-enforcement officers, under orders to prevent trouble when two Negroes arrive to enroll at the university Tuesday, put the campus off limits to all but students, faculty members, and authorized visitors, including scores of newsmen.

At the State Capitol in Montgomery, Gov. George C. Wallace, who has sworn to bar the Negroes from the university but has asked others to keep away, worked on another in a series of stay-at-home appeals. He will make a statewide radio-television broadcast Sunday night.

Wallace has promised to appear at the university to challenge a court order to admit the two Negroes and to do the same at the university extension center at Huntsville two days later when a third Negro is scheduled to enroll. A federal court has ordered him not to interfere with the integration.

Connor, recently voted out of office by Birmingham residents wanting a change of government, spoke at a Citizens Council rally Friday night in a high school auditorium at suburban Holt, Ala.

The white South's only remaining hope, said the Democratic national committeeman, "is economics. Boycott 'em."

He referred to merchants and other businessmen, who he charged, have "traded out with the Negroes."

Another speaker, C. E. Hornsby Jr. of Centerville, Ala., added his voice to the swelling no-mob-violence chorus but said white Southerners should fight back with other retaliatory measures.

Presiding over the council rally was Executive Secretary Leonard Wilson, a former University of Alabama student who was expelled in the wake of mob violence which greeted the arrival of a Negro student six years ago.

Dr. King To Speak

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King, Negro integration leader, is to speak Monday night at the Civic Auditorium. The mass meeting is sponsored by the Inter-Denominational Ministerial Alliance, composed of members of the clergy who have been urging increased civil rights for negroes.

$6 Levy At Stake

Chester To Vote Tuesday On Proposed Head Tax

The fate of Chester's controversial $6 "head tax" for additional city revenue will be decided Tuesday when voters will mark separate ballots at the City Hall poll.

Council gave tentative approval to the four proposed individual taxes May 21, but also authorized a special election as petitioned by a number of residents.

The proposed annual taxes include a $3 tax for police services, $1.50 for street lighting, and 50 cents each for the fire department and the City Park. Only a bare majority is needed for passage.

Council has indicated that some money assigned to the police department, fire department and lighting in the general fund would be freed for other uses, such as street improvement, if the taxes are approved.

Voters will have a separate ballot for each tax proposal.

The single poll at the City Hall will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., and will be manned by 10 workers — two from each ward.

Councilman Donald Chaney meanwhile announced the appointment of Mrs. Blaine Dotson as that ward's remaining poll worker.

21 Students In District Presented Scholarships

Twenty-one area students received scholarships at the first annual Citizens Scholarship Foundation awards dinner Friday night at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church. It was attended by 129.

Fr. Joseph Bennett of St. Aloysius Catholic Church gave the invocation. Joseph D. Coons, foundation president, welcomed the guests and introduced the speaker, R. C. Fabian, supervisor of educational programs for the Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Fabian pointed out that since man was created in the image of God, "his computer, or brain, is far superior to the computing machine. . . if it is developed and molded properly." He discussed the molding process by parents, educators and experience, pointing out that man is like the classic poem, "A Chambered Nautilus," limited only by his shell.

"If man's world expands," he said, "man will come closer to God. A man can only expand through knowledge".

Coons outlined the method of selection by the 12-member awards committee. The point system used gives up to 55 points for need, 37 for scholarship and 5 each for leadership and employment.

The scholarships were presented by representatives of the major donors.

The recipients were:

Marjorie Lynn Hughey, daughter of Mrs. Mary Hughey, 1839 Ohio Ave., Wittenburg University, teaching, $500.

William F. Krieger, ward of Thomas S. Cloran of Lisbon St. Ext., Baldwin-Wallace College, music teacher, $500.

Janet Louise Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ferguson, 965 Township Line Rd., Wellsville, Ohio State University, teacher, $500.

Donald Glenn Pucci, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Pucci, 712 Diamond St., Wellsville, Steubenville College, teaching, $500.

Ban Removed On Hancock Tax Hearings

An injunction which interrupted protest hearings of Hancock County taxpayers May 27 was dissolved this morning in Circuit Court by Judge James G. McClure.

Following the ruling, which lifted the ban against hearing protests of taxpayers, Hancock County Commissioners resumed tax hearings in the Courthouse in New Cumberland.

Commissioners willl also sit as a Board of Equalization and Review Monday morning at 10, the final day in which protests against 1963 tax assessments may be filed.

A group of Weirton taxpayers had asked a writ of mandamus at today's hearing to prohibit commissioners from hearing further protests and voiding proceedings thus far.

They had also asked that commissioners be prohibited from signing any statement of acceptance or approval or of completion to any set of property books increasing the assessed valuations of real property in the county over those assessed valuations approved, accepted and completed on Feb. 28.

Briefs are to be submitted to Judge McClure within eight days,

Council Calls Special Meeting For Monday

Council is slated to act on several pieces of legislation regarding the 9th St. overpass and improvements to St. Clair Ave. in a special meeting Monday night at 7 in City Hall, Charles Edwards, president, said.

A change in specifications regarding the type of sewer to be laid on the St. Clair Ave. project will be one of the discussion topics.

Edwards said the session was called by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet.

Meet At Breakfast; Tags Gov. Brown For Speaking Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Kennedy left missiles behind today and began bearing down on politics, courting the women's vote after lining up California's governor as an informal political agent.

Kennedy, winding up three days of military displays in the three states, arranged a midmorning appearance at a breakfast meeting of Democratic women. This was only a few hours after attending another dining session Friday night limited to party contributors in the $1,000 class.

Earlier Friday Kennedy tagged California Gov. Edmund G. Brown to undertake a speaking tour throughout the West.

The chief executive showed up Friday night at the senior prom of John Burroughs High School of surburban Burbank to make amends for nearly bumping the graduating class from the main ballroom in Kennedy's hotel.

Originally California Democrats planned to move the Burbank seniors from the grand ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel to make way for the President and his $1,000-a-plate affair. But Kennedy vetoed the idea—once he heard of the seniors' plight—and arranged for the party dinner to be held in the same hotel but in two smaller rooms with a more restricted seating capacity than the ballroom.

Chester To Vote Tuesday On Proposed Head Tax

The fate of Chester's controversial $6 "head tax" for additional city revenue will be decided Tuesday when voters will mark separate ballots at the City Hall poll.

Council gave tentative approval to the four proposed individual taxes May 21, but also authorized a special election as petitioned by a number of residents.

The proposed annual taxes include a $3 tax for police services, $1.50 for street lighting, and 50 cents each for the fire department and the City Park. Only a bare majority is needed for passage.

Council has indicated that some money assigned to the police department, fire department and lighting in the general fund would be freed for other uses, such as street improvement, if the taxes are approved.

Voters will have a separate ballot for each tax proposal.

The single poll at the City Hall will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., and will be manned by 10 workers — two from each ward.

Councilman Donald Chaney meanwhile announced the appointment of Mrs. Blaine Dotson as that ward's remaining poll worker.

Damage Becoming Evident To Crops From May 24 Cold

LISBON — Don Myers, Columbiana County Extension agent in agriculture, said unseasonable low tempeatures May 24 caused much loss in agriculture production in the county and the damage still is being observed and reported.

Any estimate as to the percentage of loss to various crops is merely a guess.

The damage to similar crops in different locations is quite varied, apparently due to temperature differences, land terrain and air movement. The mercury fell to 23 after 27 the previous day.

As the season progresses, future damage will be observed, such as misshaping in strawberries and cold injury upon maturing apples. Affected most, were the tree fruit and berries. Apples were severely frozen in low locations with some producers reporting a total loss of this year's crop. It is estimated only a 30 to 40 per cent apple crop will be harvested in the county.

Other tree fruits were likewise severely injured with even a greater percentage of loss on many of them. Of course, the severe winter previously eliminated prospects for a peach crop, he said.

Tender strawberry blossoms and berries were frozen with producers estimating a 30 to 40 per cent crop may be harvested. Raspberries were likewise frozen and the crop is expected to be reduced to the same level or even less.

Barley and rye were injured in almost all fields and many plantings were a total loss as far as potential to produce a grain crop. Wheat has showed no sign of injury.

Leaves of corn were frozen. However, corn with four leaves or less did not have the growth point frozen and has the ability to grow back. This had delayed the growth of the plant. Most of the larger fields of sweet corn were killed.

The new growth on many ornamental and shade trees and shrubs was frozen, but will survive; however, the growth will be retarded for this year and the tree will be somewhat unsightly for a period of time, Myers said.

3 Youths Penalized

LISBON — James Pitts and Richard Pitts, both 16, of Kensington R. D. 1, and Richard Bettis, 17, of Salineville R. D. 1, surrendered their driver licenses for 30 days as suspensions ordered Friday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for fighting. They were arrested by Constable Forrest Young of Franklin Township.

ants in the national finals will be vying for these prizes:

First place, $1,000, a trophy, plaque and weekend trip to New York City; second, $500; third, $250; fourth through eighth, $100 each; ninth through 18th, $75 each.

All remaining contestants will receive $50 each.

The national champion will be a guest on the Ed Sullivan television show Sunday night, June 16.

Many highlights in the nation's capitol await Gary.

Friday, June 14 will be the busiest. Gary, along with other spelling champs from Ohio cities — Akron, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton, Portsmouth and Youngstown —will have breakfast with Ohio's U.S. Sens. Frank J. Lausche and Stephen S. Young in the Senate dining room.

A general tour of the White House, the Bureau of Engraving, National Archives and Washington Monument also are on tap that day.

A special feature for the national banquet Friday night will be one of the U.S. Army's most unique and colorful ceremonial units which will perform for the champions. It is the "Old Guard" fife and drum corps of the 1st Battle Group, 3rd Infantry Regiment of Ft. Myer, Va. This is the official ceremonial unit in the Washington area.

The Fife and Drum Corps is attired in colorful uniforms which are authentic reproductions of the Revolutionary War dress. Also on tap for Gary will be:

A general sightseeing tour of Washington, including visits to the Jefferson Memorial, Lincoln Monument, the famous Iwo Jima statue of the Marine Corps and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, where he will witness the changing of the guard, and other interesting points in the capitol.

Tours of the FBI's facilities, Smithsonian Institution, Capitol building, Lincoln Museum, Ford Theater, Petersen House, Alexandria and Mt. Vernon, home of George and Martha Washington, also are on the busy schedule.

Beaver Local Festival To Conclude Tonight

The Beaver Local Booster Club festival will end at 10 tonight with the crowning of a queen, following a concert by the school band at 9. A horse-pulling contest will be held.

Approximately 500 attended the fete Friday evening, which featured the Colonials barbershop quartet.

Rocco DeMart, Beaver Local band director, said the musicians are to report at the high school gym tonight at 8 in preparation for the concert.

Band members, including new students, are to report at the band room Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. for rehearsal and to discuss the Midland July 4th parade and appearance at the Ohio State Fair.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare maintains a staff of approximately 82,000 employes.

Joan Webster Named Queen At Cumberland

NEW CUMBERLAND — Miss Joan Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Webster of R. D. 1, reigned as queen at the annual Junior-Senior Prom Thursday night in the school auditorium.

Escorted by Kenneth Joy, the queen was crowned by last year's winner, Miss Carol Lewis. Miss Webster was chosen by popular vote of the student body.

Theme was "Moments to Remember." Bowling in Steubenville followed the dancing.

Damage Becoming Evident To Crops From May 24 Cold

LISBON — Don Myers, Columbiana County Extension agent in agriculture, said unseasonable low tempeatures May 24 caused much loss in agriculture production in the county and the damage still is being observed and reported.

Any estimate as to the percentage of loss to various crops is merely a guess.

The damage to similar crops in different locations is quite varied, apparently due to temperature differences, land terrain and air movement. The mercury fell to 23 after 27 the previous day.

As the season progresses, future damage will be observed, such as misshaping in strawberries and cold injury upon maturing apples. Affected most, were the tree fruit and berries. Apples were severely frozen in low locations with some producers reporting a total loss of this year's crop. It is estimated only a 30 to 40 per cent apple crop will be harvested in the county.

Other tree fruits were likewise severely injured with even a greater percentage of loss on many of them. Of course, the severe winter previously eliminated prospects for a peach crop, he said.

Tender strawberry blossoms and berries were frozen with producers estimating a 30 to 40 per cent crop may be harvested. Raspberries were likewise frozen and the crop is expected to be reduced to the same level or even less.

Barley and rye were injured in almost all fields and many plantings were a total loss as far as potential to produce a grain crop. Wheat has showed no sign of injury.

Leaves of corn were frozen. However, corn with four leaves or less did not have the growth point frozen and has the ability to grow back. This had delayed the growth of the plant. Most of the larger fields of sweet corn were killed.

The new growth on many ornamental and shade trees and shrubs was frozen, but will survive; however, the growth will be retarded for this year and the tree will be somewhat unsightly for a period of time, Myers said.

3 Youths Penalized

LISBON — James Pitts and Richard Pitts, both 16, of Kensington R. D. 1, and Richard Bettis, 17, of Salineville R. D. 1, surrendered their driver licenses for 30 days as suspensions ordered Friday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for fighting. They were arrested by Constable Forrest Young of Franklin Township.

ants in the national finals will be vying for these prizes:

First place, $1,000, a trophy, plaque and weekend trip to New York City; second, $500; third, $250; fourth through eighth, $100 each; ninth through 18th, $75 each.

All remaining contestants will receive $50 each.

The national champion will be a guest on the Ed Sullivan television show Sunday night, June 16.

Many highlights in the nation's capitol await Gary.

Friday, June 14 will be the busiest. Gary, along with other spelling champs from Ohio cities — Akron, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton, Portsmouth and Youngstown —will have breakfast with Ohio's U.S. Sens. Frank J. Lausche and Stephen S. Young in the Senate dining room.

A general tour of the White House, the Bureau of Engraving, National Archives and Washington Monument also are on tap that day.

A special feature for the national banquet Friday night will be one of the U.S. Army's most unique and colorful ceremonial units which will perform for the champions. It is the "Old Guard" fife and drum corps of the 1st Battle Group, 3rd Infantry Regiment of Ft. Myer, Va. This is the official ceremonial unit in the Washington area.

The Fife and Drum Corps is attired in colorful uniforms which are authentic reproductions of the Revolutionary War dress. Also on tap for Gary will be:

A general sightseeing tour of Washington, including visits to the Jefferson Memorial, Lincoln Monument, the famous Iwo Jima statue of the Marine Corps and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, where he will witness the changing of the guard, and other interesting points in the capitol.

Tours of the FBI's facilities, Smithsonian Institution, Capitol building, Lincoln Museum, Ford Theater, Petersen House, Alexandria and Mt. Vernon, home of George and Martha Washington, also are on the busy schedule.

Beaver Local Festival To Conclude Tonight

The Beaver Local Booster Club festival will end at 10 tonight with the crowning of a queen, following a concert by the school band at 9. A horse-pulling contest will be held.

Approximately 500 attended the fete Friday evening, which featured the Colonials barbershop quartet.

Rocco DeMart, Beaver Local band director, said the musicians are to report at the high school gym tonight at 8 in preparation for the concert.

Band members, including new students, are to report at the band room Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. for rehearsal and to discuss the Midland July 4th parade and appearance at the Ohio State Fair.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare maintains a staff of approximately 82,000 employes.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. James A. Servey of the Ohio View Lutheran Church and benediction by Rev. Shearer. Music at both services will be directed by Leo Curto, high school band director.

Patrol Cruiser And Truck Crash

A State Highway Patrol cruiser and a farm truck were involved in a crash Friday at 7:50 a.m. on County Rd. 419 at the intersection with Township Rd. 901 in Elkton.

The Lisbon Barracks said the cruiser was driven by Patrolman J. M. Wattleworth, 32, of Salem.

Wattleworth was headed west on 419 when Agnes S. Biddle, 40, of Lisbon R.D. 3 drove the 1952 model truck into his path, the patrol said.

The woman stopped for the sign at the intersection and then made a left turn onto the road. The cruiser struck the right rear corner of the truck bed.

Damage was listed at $150 to the cruiser and $10 to $25 to the truck. She was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way and will receive a hearing Thursday in County Court at East Palestine.

Adventists Set First Ceremony On New School

With the first shovelful of earth, a dream will be a reality for area Seventh-day Adventists when on Sunday, at 1 p.m., church officials and members will meet on the three-acre tract located 2½ miles north of Lisbon on Route 45, to break ground for their new parochial school.

The land was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bowman, who are now members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Taking part in the groundbreaking ceremonies will be Elder F. W. Hudgins, public relations secretary; Elder W. C. Loveless, church development service director, and other officials from the Ohio Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Local interest will be represented by Elder Lyle G. Euler and many members of this area.

The school's curriculum will match that of the public schools, but with the addition of courses of religious instruction. Plans call for completion of the building in time for the fall session.

The commencement address will be given by John R. Edwards Jr., assistant to the president of Slippery Rock State Teachers College. The Rev. James A. Servey, pastor of the Ohio View Lutheran Church, will give the invocation.

John G. Flasco, president of the School Board, will present the diplomas to the graduates, while awards will be given by Michael Arbutina, principal.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. James A. Servey of the Ohio View Lutheran Church and benediction by Rev. Shearer. Music at both services will be directed by Leo Curto, high school band director.

Patrol Cruiser And Truck Crash

A State Highway Patrol cruiser and a farm truck were involved in a crash Friday at 7:50 a.m. on County Rd. 419 at the intersection with Township Rd. 901 in Elkton.

The Lisbon Barracks said the cruiser was driven by Patrolman J. M. Wattleworth, 32, of Salem.

Wattleworth was headed west on 419 when Agnes S. Biddle, 40, of Lisbon R.D. 3 drove the 1952 model truck into his path, the patrol said.

The woman stopped for the sign at the intersection and then made a left turn onto the road. The cruiser struck the right rear corner of the truck bed.

Damage was listed at $150 to the cruiser and $10 to $25 to the truck. She was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way and will receive a hearing Thursday in County Court at East Palestine.

Gov. Barnett Believes It

"Americans everywhere must realize," said Mississippi Gov. Ross E. Barnett in a statement opposing registration of Cleve McDowell, a Negro, at the University of Mississippi, "that integration is the primary facet of the conspiracy to socialize and communize America.'

The governor of Mississippi believes this to be true. His mental integrity is above question.

His judgment of the great issue in which he has been playing a key role has become so warped he honestly believes integration is a conspiracy to socialize and communize the Republic. The hopelessness of the Southern diehard position is complete.

Those who agree with him deny the validity of the 14th amendment to the Constitution. They argue that it was ratified illegally, therefore its guarantees of full citizenship for all persons born or naturalized in the United States are of no consequence.

THEY DENY that the Confederacy's surrender in the Civil War was tantamount to surrendering the challenged positions which were at issue in the war.

They refuse to give credence to the beliefs and credos of Americans who do not agree with them, including moderates in Southern states fed up with the futility of carrying on a bitter-end fight for domination of other U.S. citizens.

Nothing will change the minds of the Ross Barnetts, George C. Wallaces and Orval E. Faubuses of the segregated South. They have staked their political careers on votes to be garnered by last-ditch opposition to civil rights for Negroes.

The Negroes' battle for the rights guaranteed to him in the 14th amendment will have to be fought and won in the political arena. When it becomes politically feasible for a governor of Mississippi or a governor of Alabama to protect the civil rights of Negroes, the issue will vanish.

THAT WILL HAPPEN only when Southern states whose Democratic politicians oppose civil rights because that is how they hold their jobs must compete for votes under a two-party system.

That cannot happen until Negroes have the right to vote. It cannot happen even then until all Negroes with the right to vote use all their votes in behalf of civil rights for all Negroes.

The Democratic party is hopelessly split on this key issue of the times. It holds power with the substantial help of Negro votes in Northern states. Yet it continues to deny Negroes the right to vote in Southern states.

A Gov. Barnett can say in a public statement that the attempt to change this is a plot to communize America — and to all intents and purposes he is speaking for the Democratic party. Men like him are the Democratic party in segregated states.

Send The Bill To Sam

Far be it from a Yankee Doodle patriot to ask a question out of turn about the "hot line" hookup between Moscow and Washington, but . . .

Better to be prepared for this sort of thing in advance than be taken by surprise after the show gets under way.

Who's going to pay the bill?

We know that the plan calls for splitting the bill, but we've been through that routine before, to our sorrow.

Eventually, somebody gets huffy or runs short and the other fellow gets stuck with both halves of the bill. This is not to suggest that the people at the other end of the "hot line" might have this in mind. But it is to suggest that the United States has been given good reason to make sure in advance they don't try anything funny. It was disenchanted by its experience with the United Nations.

The idea has become well established in the modern world that the bird to stick with the bill is Uncle Sam. He has turned into the proverbial patsy. If he proposes something, stick him with the cost.

It worked in the United Nations. It worked in lend-lease and foreign aid. It presumably would work in the elaborate cable hookup and decoding devices required for the Washington-to-Moscow connection.

For one thing, much of the equipment would be made available with U.S. capital anyway. The temptation would be there. After all, the United States proposed the idea.

Off To Washington

Gary Barringer will be off to Washington and the national spelling bee Sunday.

Naturally, we hope he returns with the title of champion. And, knowing Gary and being aware of his ability as a speller, there's every possibility that he will.

The big thing, however, Gary, is that you enjoy yourself and take advantage of the opportunity to learn firsthand about your nation's capital and its many historic spots. You will meet interesting and important people and see interesting and important places. The experience will be one you'll never forget.

Have fun, and let the words fall where they may.

Gen. Mitchell Made His Point

The chief of U.S. naval operations, Vice Adm. William A. Schoech, has reacted strongly to news about Soviet planes buzzing aircraft carriers on the high seas.

To the extent that "fly-overs" have stirred doubts about the carriers' ability to defend themselves against attack, explains Adm. Schoech, the American people should rest assured that this kind of hide-and-seek goes on all the time.

Each side is testing the opposition's electronic devices. It is a war game rehearsed with real weapons. The United States is probing for holes in the Soviet Union's defenses, and it is probing for holes in U.S. defenses.

When U.S. carriers don't want to be found, says Adm. Schoech, they won't be found. There is nothing to the suspicion that the carrier, being vulnerable to air attack, is obsolete.

We wish all of us could be as sure about this as the admiral seems to be. We remember when admirals argued that battleships weren't vulnerable and Brig. Gen. William Mitchell proved they were by sinking one with bombs dropped from a World War I airplane. That was before electronic hide-and-seek.

The principle is the same now as it was then.

A surface ship is vulnerable to aerial attack. That's why the U.S. Navy is relying heavily on nuclear - powered submarines, which can operate under the surface for long periods.

Aircraft carriers would be hard to find, true. But, once found, they could be destroyed by airplanes. Billy Mitchell proved that in the 1900s. It needs no more proving. He made his point.

The Long Pull

By Truman Twill

Funny, how you find out what you believe when your adversary draws blood in an argument.

My adversary was trying to overwhelm me with evidence the Communists were winning; that our side was taking a pasting; that to all intents and purposes we were throwing in the towel.

This has become a familiar pattern in the United States. Many Americans indulge in it. During the 1960 presidential campaign, the Democratic candidate tried to make it appear the Eisenhower administration had given up the fight. Now it's Mr. Kennedy's turn to squirm under the Republican accusation that his administration has given up the fight.

This sort of thing goes on all the time. It's like the bench jockeying that goes with baseball. Baseball may not be the national game any more, but getting the opposition's goat always has been and still is a national game.

A spectator is put to it to know what to think when the bench jockeys are going strong. But on the question of who is pasting whom in the battle for men's minds, I don't care what the jockeys say. On this one I'll make my own judgment.

We are beating the stuffings out of the other side. We are doing to the Reds what we have done to all our opponents, beginning with the Red Coats. We are giving them what we working stiffs call the carborundum treatment.

We're wearing them out.

This is what they'd like to do to us, if they could. But they can't. They are trying to organize humanity according to a theory that never has worked.

It never can work over a long pull, because it is contrary to human nature.

Our way works. It's human nature, not theory. We turn human nature loose to do whatever it is able to do in behalf of humanity, taking the bad with the good, encouraging the latter, discouraging the former.

We're setting the pace. Except in space exploration, in which the other side jumped off to a lead, they're trying to catch up. Even in space exploration, their lead is being whittled down so fast they're looking over their shoulder.

They can capture governments but not people's minds. The only way they can keep people in line is behind fences and walls. They never even have been able to feed themselves; they live in the shadow of famine.

Their dream is to have it as good someday as we have it, but they'll never get close as long as they stay stuck with the unworkable theories of lint-pickers who thought they could change human nature to suit their personal peeves.

That's why they're licked. Human nature will assert itself inside all Communist countries. The Reds are being forced inexorably away from theories toward realities.

If our side can keep from getting tangled up in theories at the expense of reality, we'll win going away. That's what I believe, politicians to the contrary notwithstanding.

Our 6-year-olds, in their first year of elementary school, aren't exactly starting from scratch on the intellectual road. The average 6-year-old child, according to one recent poll, has a vocabulary of more than 2,500 words and can use them in well structured sentences.

Nothing of certainty is known about the invention of glass, specimens in Egypt having been traced as far back as 1,500 years before Christ.

The Right To Challenge The Court

By DAVID LAWRENCE

However unpalatable the views of Gov. Wallace of Alabama may be to many people who disagree with him, the fact remains that, strictly speaking, it is inaccurate to label his attitude as defiance of the law.

David Lawrence

The Alabama governor actually is exercising his constitutional right to challenge any decision of the Supreme Court in order to try to get a different ruling from that which has prevailed. If he fails to get a new ruling and still doesn't conform to the court's order, he must pay the penalty of what then is legally spoken of as "disobedience" or "non-compliance."

Lawyers versed in constitutional law know, but the general public doesn't realize, that there is no such thing as the "law of the land" in relation to the finality of all decisions of tte Supreme Court of the United States.

THE CORRECT phrase is "law of the case."

This means that an individual can test any law or ruling and has a right to pursue the matter from the lower courts to the highest court, arguing new points not covered in previous cases. Gov. Wallace emphasized this on the Meet the Press program on TV recently as follows:

"We are just raising the constitutional question for the courts, the federal court system of the land, and they may change and rule in our favor. They did rule in our favor in the South for many years and then changed in 1954. Why should not we continue—in fact, in the Savannah case the other day, in Georgia, a federal court ruled for the first time since 1954 that it is harmful to Negro and white children to integrate them into the school system."

It was pointed out immediately by a panel member that the decision was reversed the next day by the Circuit Court of Appeals, but Gov. Wallace then commented that the case "hasn't gone yet to the Supreme Court, and the next case that we raise, they may rule in our favor." He quoted a statement by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1937:

"Our difficulty with the (Supreme) Court today arises not from the court as an institution but from human beings within it."

The Alabama governor added: "I haven't said I would disobey a federal court order for defiance's sake, but for the purpose of testing. As governor of Alabama, I have the right to test in the courts the validity of this order involving our school system."

IF, THEREFORE, by chance the Supreme Court of the United States did reverse itself on the issue of federal coercion of a state university and permitted the institution once more to choose its own students, the net result could be the cancellation of any order against Gov. Wallace that previously was issued by the high court.

The layman may call all this "legalism," but that's the way the judicial system operates in America. It's hard not only for laymen but for lawyers to be sure what the decisions of the high court mean or how long they will remain in effect.

Justice Douglas, a veteran member of the Supreme Court, said in a dissenting opinion in a case involving water rights:

"Much is written these days about judicial law-making; and every scholar knows that judges who construe statutes must of necessity legislate interstitially (to a narrow extent), to paraphrase Mr. Justice Cardozo. The present case is different. It will, I think, be marked as the baldest attempt by judges in modern times to spin their own philosophy into the fabric of the law, in derogation of the will of the legislature.

"The present decision, as Mr. Justice Harlan shows, grants the federal bureaucracy a power and command over water rights in the 17 Western states that it never has had, that it always wanted, that it could never persuade Congress to grant, and that this court up to now has consistently refused to recognize."

In an entirely different case decided a week earlier, Justice Black spoke of the action of the Supreme Court as "shocking" to him when it denied review and a hearing to a dairy company which sought "to invoke a right granted by a federal statute."

SO THE QUESTION might well be asked whether Justices Douglas and Black, respectively, are engaged in verbal "defiance" of the court, and whether the right to express himself vehemently doesn't extend also to the governor of Alabama in presenting his views.

The Supreme Court, moreover, recently rejected a petition from the governor of Alabama for an order that federal troops should not be deployed in that state "to suppress domestic violence," because the federal Constitution permits the use of troops only upon the request of a governor or a State Legislature.

The Supreme Court promptly denied the Wallace petition. The court said the steps being taken by the President were "purely preparatory."

So Gov. Wallace now might also argue that his comments to the press and his announced purpose of challenging the court's order to admit Negro students to the University of Alabama are "purely preparatory" to the challenge he is planning to make later in the Supreme Court of the United States.

Cuban Espionage Increases In U.S.

By VICTOR RIESEL

Early last November special agents of the FBI closed in on the false front centers of three Castro operatives. The Cubans were not propagandists. They were saboteurs. They had secreted caches of explosive detonators and incendiary materials. They were arrested before they could pinpoint their East Coast targets—bridges, aluminum plants, oil refineries, transportation system hubs. Thus they became one of exactly 2,053 "investigations relating to Cuban matters" in 1962.

Victor Riesel

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover disclosed the figure the other day. It proves the intensification by the Communist Havana government of intelligence services in the United States. For this is an increase of some 1,400 cases affecting Cuban nationals in '62 over 1960 when the FBI probed 671 Castroite moves on our mainland.

AFTER THE SEIZURE of the three Cuban saboteurs on Nov. 16, Castro turned most of his espionage work over to some of the Soviet bloc missions to the United Nations.

These delegations have ample numbers and talent. And what they need they can borrow from the embassies here, to give a hand to their Cuban cousins until Castro's espionage agents are more carefully developed under Soviet tutelage.

FBI Director Hoover recently told a congressional subcommittee, gathered in executive session under Rep. John Rooney, that "as of Jan. 1, 1963, there were 761 Soviet-bloc official personnel in the United States. They were accompanied by 1,066 dependents, some of whom also are trained intelligence agents."

To counteract Soviet-bloc saturation operations in this land, Mr. Hoover has 5,569 agents in the "over-all field investigative staff." And these men must cover the mobs, the bank robbers and a thousand other types of crimes against the people. They must prevent infiltration of thousands of defense plants.

What Mr. Hoover was asking of the congressional committee was an appropriation sufficient to give him 200 additional agents to spread over 55 field offices.

The gargantuan nature of the task on the counterespionage, counterintelligence front alone is obvious from another report. This one is from Walter Yeagley, head of the Justice Department's Internal Security Division.

MR. YEAGLEY, known to be a terse scientist in his profession and a specialist in understatement, reported to the congressmen that there is something in his department known as "new matters."

These, it can be presumed, result from investigations which have turned up sufficient evidence to make the "new matters" potential cases for prosecution by the Internal Security Division—a section created to safeguard our nation from enemy agents.

In 1962 the division handled 7,102 new matters. These were based on 107,932 reports, memorandums and documents from the FBI and other sources.

And the American Communist party is not exactly a friendly force from within. The party has some 10,000 members and 100,000 "sympathizers" according to Mr. Hoover, whose agents have infiltrated it right up to its "inner circles."

The Communists function not only through their party but through "about 165 known or suspected Communist front groups or infiltrated organizations under investigation.

These groups are used as covers for various party activities. Some are created at will and discarded when they have served their purpose. . . ."

THESE TODAY are concentrating on the youth of the country, on unions and on Spanish-speaking groups. For each a new publication was launched in 1962.

To counter conspiracy, Communist activity, and crime, Mr. Hoover has asked the Congress for $146.9 million. This is petty cash, it seems to me, for an agency which needs to match the vast Soviet operations inside the United States.

Yes, these operations are vast, despite the inclination of some observers to minimize Soviet efforts within our borders.

It would cost us much more if one George John Gessner is guilty as charged. He is awaiting trial under the Atomic Energy Act on charges of having "unlawfully transmitted classified atomic weapons information to a representative of the Soviet Union." He is a former Army nuclear weapons specialist.

It would cost us much more if we did not have sufficient FBI agents to cover those Soviet officials who made 14 "intelligence collection and reconnaissance trips throughout the country, visiting strategic areas and gathering detailed maps, photographs and other data," last year.

This is no Ian Fleming stuff. This is real life—the life of the land perhaps. Who can deny this in view of what has happened across the world?

Church At Crossroads

By Sanche De Gramont

VATICAN CITY

The death of Pope John XXIII leaves the Roman Catholic Church at one of the most important crossroads in its 2,000-year history.

Perhaps the real tragedy of the Pope's loss is that he was unable to finish the tasks he began during his brief reign. Now, the "Caretaker Pope" has left his successor a rich legacy.

He called the first General Council of the Church hierarcy in our century. He forged a bridge of trust and understanding with the other Christian faiths, which had often viewed Catholicism with suspicion.

He improved the position of the church of silence, which has suffered half a century of relentless persecution.

He revived a moral warning fallen into disuse—that there are no just wars.

BUT IN ALL these noble aims he was able to go only part of the way. Now, the Ecumenical Council is automatically dissolved. Contacts with Protestants and Orthodox Churches have suffered a setback by the very fact of his death.

The imprisoned prelates like Archbishop Josef Beran of Czechoslovakia and those in asylum like Josef Cardinal Minszenty of Hungary find their freedom compromised.

It will be up to Pope John's successor to pursue these aims or lead the church in a different direction.

Pope John has reportedly left an informal "last will and testament" in the trust of his secretary, Monsignor Loris Capovilla. This document, concerning his wish for the continuation of the council and listing his candidates for new cardinals, are to be given to his successor.

The document is of a private character, and leaves Pope John's successor the discretion of adopting its directives or disregarding it.

This is what gives the election of the new Pope such compelling importance. As a well-informed Jesuit said: "The new Pope, if he wants to, can destroy all Pope John's work in a short time. He can also take up John's torch and carry it the rest of the way."

It will be no easy conclave, that seems assured. It will be neither as long as the two-year conclave which elected Pope Gregory X in 1271, when the Cardinals had to be starved until they chose someone, nor as short as the 20-hour conclave which brought Pius XII to the Papacy in 1939.

But as in 1958, when Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli became John XXIII after five days of balloting, there is today no outstanding "papabile," no single man who has been groomed for the post and whom Pope John has pointed to as his successor.

The secret conclave in the Sistine Chapel will bring together 53 foreign and 29 Italian Cardinals. The full strength of 85 Princes of the Church has been reduced by the recent deaths of William Cardinal Godfrey of Westminster (England), Manuel Cardinal Arreaga y Betancourt of Cuba and John Cardinal Dalton of Ireland.

Pope John was a maker of Cardinals, and 45 of those who will come to the conclave were named by him and might be expected to remain faithful to his memory.

However, a majority of two thirds plus one, 55 in the present case, is needed to elect a new Pope.

THE USUAL contrast between the block of Italian Cardinals versus and non-Italians is not so pertinent this time. Neither group is expected to vote by block.

The old question of whether the time has come for a non-Italian Pope is not so important either. Pope John was Italian and yet steered a sharply different tack from that expected from the conservative, parochial, and slow-moving Italian church.

Probably the most important influence of the conclave will be the experience of the council. During the two months of the first session last fall, the Cardinals grew to know one another. They listened to each other's speeches in the Council chamber and they often met privately.

Gov. Barnett Believes It

"Americans everywhere must realize," said Mississippi Gov. Ross E. Barnett in a statement opposing registration of Cleve McDowell, a Negro, at the University of Mississippi, "that integration is the primary facet of the conspiracy to socialize and communize America.'

The governor of Mississippi believes this to be true. His mental integrity is above question.

His judgment of the great issue in which he has been playing a key role has become so warped he honestly believes integration is a conspiracy to socialize and communize the Republic. The hopelessness of the Southern diehard position is complete.

Those who agree with him deny the validity of the 14th amendment to the Constitution. They argue that it was ratified illegally, therefore its guarantees of full citizenship for all persons born or naturalized in the United States are of no consequence.

THEY DENY that the Confederacy's surrender in the Civil War was tantamount to surrendering the challenged positions which were at issue in the war.

They refuse to give credence to the beliefs and credos of Americans who do not agree with them, including moderates in Southern states fed up with the futility of carrying on a bitter-end fight for domination of other U.S. citizens.

Nothing will change the minds of the Ross Barnetts, George C. Wallaces and Orval E. Faubuses of the segregated South. They have staked their political careers on votes to be garnered by last-ditch opposition to civil rights for Negroes.

The Negroes' battle for the rights guaranteed to him in the 14th amendment will have to be fought and won in the political arena. When it becomes politically feasible for a governor of Mississippi or a governor of Alabama to protect the civil rights of Negroes, the issue will vanish.

THAT WILL HAPPEN only when Southern states whose Democratic politicians oppose civil rights because that is how they hold their jobs must compete for votes under a two-party system.

That cannot happen until Negroes have the right to vote. It cannot happen even then until all Negroes with the right to vote use all their votes in behalf of civil rights for all Negroes.

The Democratic party is hopelessly split on this key issue of the times. It holds power with the substantial help of Negro votes in Northern states. Yet it continues to deny Negroes the right to vote in Southern states.

A Gov. Barnett can say in a public statement that the attempt to change this is a plot to communize America — and to all intents and purposes he is speaking for the Democratic party. Men like him are the Democratic party in segregated states.

Send The Bill To Sam

Far be it from a Yankee Doodle patriot to ask a question out of turn about the "hot line" hookup between Moscow and Washington, but . . .

Better to be prepared for this sort of thing in advance than be taken by surprise after the show gets under way.

Who's going to pay the bill?

We know that the plan calls for splitting the bill, but we've been through that routine before, to our sorrow.

Eventually, somebody gets huffy or runs short and the other fellow gets stuck with both halves of the bill. This is not to suggest that the people at the other end of the "hot line" might have this in mind. But it is to suggest that the United States has been given good reason to make sure in advance they don't try anything funny. It was disenchanted by its experience with the United Nations.

The idea has become well established in the modern world that the bird to stick with the bill is Uncle Sam. He has turned into the proverbial patsy. If he proposes something, stick him with the cost.

It worked in the United Nations. It worked in lend-lease and foreign aid. It presumably would work in the elaborate cable hookup and decoding devices required for the Washington-to-Moscow connection.

For one thing, much of the equipment would be made available with U.S. capital anyway. The temptation would be there. After all, the United States proposed the idea.

Off To Washington

Gary Barringer will be off to Washington and the national spelling bee Sunday.

Naturally, we hope he returns with the title of champion. And, knowing Gary and being aware of his ability as a speller, there's every possibility that he will.

The big thing, however, Gary, is that you enjoy yourself and take advantage of the opportunity to learn firsthand about your nation's capital and its many historic spots. You will meet interesting and important people and see interesting and important places. The experience will be one you'll never forget.

Have fun, and let the words fall where they may.

Gen. Mitchell Made His Point

The chief of U.S. naval operations, Vice Adm. William A. Schoech, has reacted strongly to news about Soviet planes buzzing aircraft carriers on the high seas.

To the extent that "fly-overs" have stirred doubts about the carriers' ability to defend themselves against attack, explains Adm. Schoech, the American people should rest assured that this kind of hide-and-seek goes on all the time.

Each side is testing the opposition's electronic devices. It is a war game rehearsed with real weapons. The United States is probing for holes in the Soviet Union's defenses, and it is probing for holes in U.S. defenses.

When U.S. carriers don't want to be found, says Adm. Schoech, they won't be found. There is nothing to the suspicion that the carrier, being vulnerable to air attack, is obsolete.

We wish all of us could be as sure about this as the admiral seems to be. We remember when admirals argued that battleships weren't vulnerable and Brig. Gen. William Mitchell proved they were by sinking one with bombs dropped from a World War I airplane. That was before electronic hide-and-seek.

The principle is the same now as it was then.

A surface ship is vulnerable to aerial attack. That's why the U.S. Navy is relying heavily on nuclear - powered submarines, which can operate under the surface for long periods.

Aircraft carriers would be hard to find, true. But, once found, they could be destroyed by airplanes. Billy Mitchell proved that in the 1900s. It needs no more proving. He made his point.

The Long Pull

By Truman Twill

Funny, how you find out what you believe when your adversary draws blood in an argument.

My adversary was trying to overwhelm me with evidence the Communists were winning; that our side was taking a pasting; that to all intents and purposes we were throwing in the towel.

This has become a familiar pattern in the United States. Many Americans indulge in it. During the 1960 presidential campaign, the Democratic candidate tried to make it appear the Eisenhower administration had given up the fight. Now it's Mr. Kennedy's turn to squirm under the Republican accusation that his administration has given up the fight.

This sort of thing goes on all the time. It's like the bench jockeying that goes with baseball. Baseball may not be the national game any more, but getting the opposition's goat always has been and still is a national game.

A spectator is put to it to know what to think when the bench jockeys are going strong. But on the question of who is pasting whom in the battle for men's minds, I don't care what the jockeys say. On this one I'll make my own judgment.

We are beating the stuffings out of the other side. We are doing to the Reds what we have done to all our opponents, beginning with the Red Coats. We are giving them what we working stiffs call the carborundum treatment.

We're wearing them out.

This is what they'd like to do to us, if they could. But they can't. They are trying to organize humanity according to a theory that never has worked.

It never can work over a long pull, because it is contrary to human nature.

Our way works. It's human nature, not theory. We turn human nature loose to do whatever it is able to do in behalf of humanity, taking the bad with the good, encouraging the latter, discouraging the former.

We're setting the pace. Except in space exploration, in which the other side jumped off to a lead, they're trying to catch up. Even in space exploration, their lead is being whittled down so fast they're looking over their shoulder.

They can capture governments but not people's minds. The only way they can keep people in line is behind fences and walls. They never even have been able to feed themselves; they live in the shadow of famine.

Their dream is to have it as good someday as we have it, but they'll never get close as long as they stay stuck with the unworkable theories of lint-pickers who thought they could change human nature to suit their personal peeves.

That's why they're licked. Human nature will assert itself inside all Communist countries. The Reds are being forced inexorably away from theories toward realities.

If our side can keep from getting tangled up in theories at the expense of reality, we'll win going away. That's what I believe, politicians to the contrary notwithstanding.

Our 6-year-olds, in their first year of elementary school, aren't exactly starting from scratch on the intellectual road. The average 6-year-old child, according to one recent poll, has a vocabulary of more than 2,500 words and can use them in well structured sentences.

Nothing of certainty is known about the invention of glass, specimens in Egypt having been traced as far back as 1,500 years before Christ.

The Right To Challenge The Court

By DAVID LAWRENCE

However unpalatable the views of Gov. Wallace of Alabama may be to many people who disagree with him, the fact remains that, strictly speaking, it is inaccurate to label his attitude as defiance of the law.

David Lawrence

The Alabama governor actually is exercising his constitutional right to challenge any decision of the Supreme Court in order to try to get a different ruling from that which has prevailed. If he fails to get a new ruling and still doesn't conform to the court's order, he must pay the penalty of what then is legally spoken of as "disobedience" or "non-compliance."

Lawyers versed in constitutional law know, but the general public doesn't realize, that there is no such thing as the "law of the land" in relation to the finality of all decisions of tte Supreme Court of the United States.

THE CORRECT phrase is "law of the case."

This means that an individual can test any law or ruling and has a right to pursue the matter from the lower courts to the highest court, arguing new points not covered in previous cases. Gov. Wallace emphasized this on the Meet the Press program on TV recently as follows:

"We are just raising the constitutional question for the courts, the federal court system of the land, and they may change and rule in our favor. They did rule in our favor in the South for many years and then changed in 1954. Why should not we continue—in fact, in the Savannah case the other day, in Georgia, a federal court ruled for the first time since 1954 that it is harmful to Negro and white children to integrate them into the school system."

It was pointed out immediately by a panel member that the decision was reversed the next day by the Circuit Court of Appeals, but Gov. Wallace then commented that the case "hasn't gone yet to the Supreme Court, and the next case that we raise, they may rule in our favor." He quoted a statement by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1937:

"Our difficulty with the (Supreme) Court today arises not from the court as an institution but from human beings within it."

The Alabama governor added: "I haven't said I would disobey a federal court order for defiance's sake, but for the purpose of testing. As governor of Alabama, I have the right to test in the courts the validity of this order involving our school system."

IF, THEREFORE, by chance the Supreme Court of the United States did reverse itself on the issue of federal coercion of a state university and permitted the institution once more to choose its own students, the net result could be the cancellation of any order against Gov. Wallace that previously was issued by the high court.

The layman may call all this "legalism," but that's the way the judicial system operates in America. It's hard not only for laymen but for lawyers to be sure what the decisions of the high court mean or how long they will remain in effect.

Justice Douglas, a veteran member of the Supreme Court, said in a dissenting opinion in a case involving water rights:

"Much is written these days about judicial law-making; and every scholar knows that judges who construe statutes must of necessity legislate interstitially (to a narrow extent), to paraphrase Mr. Justice Cardozo. The present case is different. It will, I think, be marked as the baldest attempt by judges in modern times to spin their own philosophy into the fabric of the law, in derogation of the will of the legislature.

"The present decision, as Mr. Justice Harlan shows, grants the federal bureaucracy a power and command over water rights in the 17 Western states that it never has had, that it always wanted, that it could never persuade Congress to grant, and that this court up to now has consistently refused to recognize."

In an entirely different case decided a week earlier, Justice Black spoke of the action of the Supreme Court as "shocking" to him when it denied review and a hearing to a dairy company which sought "to invoke a right granted by a federal statute."

SO THE QUESTION might well be asked whether Justices Douglas and Black, respectively, are engaged in verbal "defiance" of the court, and whether the right to express himself vehemently doesn't extend also to the governor of Alabama in presenting his views.

The Supreme Court, moreover, recently rejected a petition from the governor of Alabama for an order that federal troops should not be deployed in that state "to suppress domestic violence," because the federal Constitution permits the use of troops only upon the request of a governor or a State Legislature.

The Supreme Court promptly denied the Wallace petition. The court said the steps being taken by the President were "purely preparatory."

So Gov. Wallace now might also argue that his comments to the press and his announced purpose of challenging the court's order to admit Negro students to the University of Alabama are "purely preparatory" to the challenge he is planning to make later in the Supreme Court of the United States.

Cuban Espionage Increases In U.S.

By VICTOR RIESEL

Early last November special agents of the FBI closed in on the false front centers of three Castro operatives. The Cubans were not propagandists. They were saboteurs. They had secreted caches of explosive detonators and incendiary materials. They were arrested before they could pinpoint their East Coast targets—bridges, aluminum plants, oil refineries, transportation system hubs. Thus they became one of exactly 2,053 "investigations relating to Cuban matters" in 1962.

Victor Riesel

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover disclosed the figure the other day. It proves the intensification by the Communist Havana government of intelligence services in the United States. For this is an increase of some 1,400 cases affecting Cuban nationals in '62 over 1960 when the FBI probed 671 Castroite moves on our mainland.

AFTER THE SEIZURE of the three Cuban saboteurs on Nov. 16, Castro turned most of his espionage work over to some of the Soviet bloc missions to the United Nations.

These delegations have ample numbers and talent. And what they need they can borrow from the embassies here, to give a hand to their Cuban cousins until Castro's espionage agents are more carefully developed under Soviet tutelage.

FBI Director Hoover recently told a congressional subcommittee, gathered in executive session under Rep. John Rooney, that "as of Jan. 1, 1963, there were 761 Soviet-bloc official personnel in the United States. They were accompanied by 1,066 dependents, some of whom also are trained intelligence agents."

To counteract Soviet-bloc saturation operations in this land, Mr. Hoover has 5,569 agents in the "over-all field investigative staff." And these men must cover the mobs, the bank robbers and a thousand other types of crimes against the people. They must prevent infiltration of thousands of defense plants.

What Mr. Hoover was asking of the congressional committee was an appropriation sufficient to give him 200 additional agents to spread over 55 field offices.

The gargantuan nature of the task on the counterespionage, counterintelligence front alone is obvious from another report. This one is from Walter Yeagley, head of the Justice Department's Internal Security Division.

MR. YEAGLEY, known to be a terse scientist in his profession and a specialist in understatement, reported to the congressmen that there is something in his department known as "new matters."

These, it can be presumed, result from investigations which have turned up sufficient evidence to make the "new matters" potential cases for prosecution by the Internal Security Division—a section created to safeguard our nation from enemy agents.

In 1962 the division handled 7,102 new matters. These were based on 107,932 reports, memorandums and documents from the FBI and other sources.

And the American Communist party is not exactly a friendly force from within. The party has some 10,000 members and 100,000 "sympathizers" according to Mr. Hoover, whose agents have infiltrated it right up to its "inner circles."

The Communists function not only through their party but through "about 165 known or suspected Communist front groups or infiltrated organizations under investigation.

These groups are used as covers for various party activities. Some are created at will and discarded when they have served their purpose. . . ."

THESE TODAY are concentrating on the youth of the country, on unions and on Spanish-speaking groups. For each a new publication was launched in 1962.

To counter conspiracy, Communist activity, and crime, Mr. Hoover has asked the Congress for $146.9 million. This is petty cash, it seems to me, for an agency which needs to match the vast Soviet operations inside the United States.

Yes, these operations are vast, despite the inclination of some observers to minimize Soviet efforts within our borders.

It would cost us much more if one George John Gessner is guilty as charged. He is awaiting trial under the Atomic Energy Act on charges of having "unlawfully transmitted classified atomic weapons information to a representative of the Soviet Union." He is a former Army nuclear weapons specialist.

It would cost us much more if we did not have sufficient FBI agents to cover those Soviet officials who made 14 "intelligence collection and reconnaissance trips throughout the country, visiting strategic areas and gathering detailed maps, photographs and other data," last year.

This is no Ian Fleming stuff. This is real life—the life of the land perhaps. Who can deny this in view of what has happened across the world?

Church At Crossroads

By Sanche De Gramont

VATICAN CITY

The death of Pope John XXIII leaves the Roman Catholic Church at one of the most important crossroads in its 2,000-year history.

Perhaps the real tragedy of the Pope's loss is that he was unable to finish the tasks he began during his brief reign. Now, the "Caretaker Pope" has left his successor a rich legacy.

He called the first General Council of the Church hierarcy in our century. He forged a bridge of trust and understanding with the other Christian faiths, which had often viewed Catholicism with suspicion.

He improved the position of the church of silence, which has suffered half a century of relentless persecution.

He revived a moral warning fallen into disuse—that there are no just wars.

BUT IN ALL these noble aims he was able to go only part of the way. Now, the Ecumenical Council is automatically dissolved. Contacts with Protestants and Orthodox Churches have suffered a setback by the very fact of his death.

The imprisoned prelates like Archbishop Josef Beran of Czechoslovakia and those in asylum like Josef Cardinal Minszenty of Hungary find their freedom compromised.

It will be up to Pope John's successor to pursue these aims or lead the church in a different direction.

Pope John has reportedly left an informal "last will and testament" in the trust of his secretary, Monsignor Loris Capovilla. This document, concerning his wish for the continuation of the council and listing his candidates for new cardinals, are to be given to his successor.

The document is of a private character, and leaves Pope John's successor the discretion of adopting its directives or disregarding it.

This is what gives the election of the new Pope such compelling importance. As a well-informed Jesuit said: "The new Pope, if he wants to, can destroy all Pope John's work in a short time. He can also take up John's torch and carry it the rest of the way."

It will be no easy conclave, that seems assured. It will be neither as long as the two-year conclave which elected Pope Gregory X in 1271, when the Cardinals had to be starved until they chose someone, nor as short as the 20-hour conclave which brought Pius XII to the Papacy in 1939.

But as in 1958, when Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli became John XXIII after five days of balloting, there is today no outstanding "papabile," no single man who has been groomed for the post and whom Pope John has pointed to as his successor.

The secret conclave in the Sistine Chapel will bring together 53 foreign and 29 Italian Cardinals. Annual Presidents' Dinner Held By Club At Ohio View

The annual Presidents' Dinner, the final meeting of the season for the Ohio View Women's Club, was held in The Willows Motel in Industry Tuesday night.

Officers were installed by Mrs. Paul E. Vesiland, Beaver County Federation vice president.

Mrs. Eugene George, retiring president, welcomed Mrs. Elizabeth Collins, honorary guest, who recited a poem, "Learn To Laugh." Mrs. C. L. Defenbaugh gave the invocation.

Members decided to purchase a mimeograph machine.

Mrs. Laco Shreve, newly - elected president, reported on the Pennsylvania Federation convention she attended recently in Philadelphia.

Mrs. John Petrosky presented the club's pressbook, which won third prize at the convention, to Mrs. George and Mrs. Paul Schake made the presentation of three books for the Ohio View Library to be given in Mrs. George's honor. A gift from the membership was given Mrs. George by Mrs. John Siranovich.

The afghan made by club members was on display. It will be sent to Korea.

Mrs. George Baacke, program chairman, presented Mrs. Ed White, Mrs. Anthony Manas, Mrs. Don Luster and Mrs. Lee Alback-er, who participated in a program of readings, a tap dance and vocal selections. Mrs. Defenbaugh was accompanist.

Winners in cards and special prizes following the meeting were Mrs. Albacker, Mrs. Harrell Bomar, Mrs. Clifford Reed, Mrs. Frank Kennedy and Miss Rose Ann DiMaggio.

Mrs. Harry Dornberg was hostess chairman.

Next board meeting is Aug. 27 with Mrs. James Stahl and Mrs. John Petchel serving as hostesses.

The club will meet Sept. 9.

School Topic Is 'Walking With God'

Vacation Bible School will begin Monday morning and continue through June 21 at the First Methodist Church on the theme "Walking With God."

Classes will be held for children from 3 years of age through junior high from 9 to 11:45 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Plans for the school were completed at a meeting of the committee Thursday night.

Miss Martha Bloor, secretary, assisted by members of the Senior High Group, will be in charge of registration Monday morning. Children are to use the W. 5th St. entrance to the Sunday School.

Teachers will be Mrs. Albert Harold, Mrs. Frank Hilliard and Miss Patricia McVey, Nursery; Mrs. William Copestick and Mrs. Carl Schneider, Kindergarten; Mrs. Robert Arnold and Mrs. Leroy Pogemiller, Primary; Mrs. John Bebout and Miss Sharon Bebout, Junior, and the Rev. John Clark and Mrs. Harry Hicks, Junior High.

Aiding with music and handcraft will be Mrs. John Stackhouse, Lynne Goodman, Terry Copestick, Mary Lou Copestick, Kay Vervin, Linda Crooks, Carla Schneider, Juanita Daniels, Janet Brokaw and Roger Hicks.

Nick Craven will aid teachers with recreation and mothers of children will assist Mina Jane Weber with morning refreshments.

Aiding with the morning worship will be Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Francis Lang, Mrs. Charles Thomas Jr. and Roger Hicks. William Lopez will assist with the loading and unloading of cars.

A closing program will be presented June 21 at 7:30 p.m. A display of handcraft and a movie will be featured at the social hour.

County Youth Group Will Attend Sessions

A delegation from the Columbiana County Methodist Youth Fellowship is expected to attend the officers workshop Sunday through Friday at Mt. Union College at Alliance.

The sessions are for officers of the district, sub-district and conference and the group will include Roger Hicks of the First church, who is Steubenville District representative to the conference. Paul Morgan of the Lisbon First church also will attend. He is president of the county sub-district.

St. John's Will Mark Centennial

The congregation of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, located at 3rd and Jackson Sts. will hold two days of special services next weekend marking the 100th anniversary of the church.

A number of former pastors will return for the celebration, including Dr. Frederick E. Reinartz, now president of Columbia (S.C.) Seminary. He will be speaker for the special service Sunday, June 16, at 10:45 a.m. as the highlight of the centennial program. The anniversary occurred May 17.

The celebration will begin next Saturday with a banquet in the social rooms, when the former pastors will be honored. The Rev. Charles Kampmeyer is pastor.

OTHER FORMER clergymen who expect to participate in the observance are Dr. John Kindsvatter of Wooster, the Rev. Paul Obenauf of Minneapolis, and the Rev. Wilbert T. Wilson of Scottdale, Pa. Also, three "sons of the congregations," who have been ordained as ministers, the Rev. John Schneidmiller, the Rev. William Maloney and the Rev. John Keil.

The church was formally organized on May 17, 1863, by a group of about 36, who raised a brick chapel on a lot purchased for $50 at 3rd and Jackson. The cornerstone was laid Aug. 3, 1867, and the church was dedicated Oct. 27 that year. It was the seventh church building in the community.

THE CONGREGATION received its original charter Feb. 3, 1868, which was replaced by another, April 16, 1886.

After the brief pastorate of the Rev. Ewald Giese, the Rev. C. J. Steinbach served for two years, followed by the Rev. John Fritz, the Rev. Michael Kucher, and the Rev. Gustave Schultz.

John Gottfried Reinartz, a German theological student about to finish his American training at Mt. Airy Seminary in Philadelphia, was called in 1885. He became pastor after being ordained June 29, 1886. He served 44 years.

The parsonage, still in use, was built in 1887 — the house was assembled in Rochester, floated down the Ohio River and put on a prepared foundation. Extensive remodeling and improvements were made in 1930 and several times at a later date.

THE CORNERSTONE of the present church building was laid July 19, 1896, and dedicated Nov. 29 that year. The cost of the edifice was $9,800. In 1904, the adjoining lot on 3rd St. was purchased. Extensive remodeling of the Sunday School Room took place in 1921 and in 1923 the exterior of the building was encased in stucco.

When Rev. John G. Reinartz resigned in 1930, his youngest son, the Rev. Frederick Reinartz, guest speaker for the special services, assumed the charge and served for eight years.

In 1938, he resigned to accept a call to become secretary for promotion of the ULCA. From this post, he was elected secretary of the United Lutheran Church in America.

THE REV. John F. Kindsvatter took over the pastorate in 1939 and in October 1944 accepted a call to the Zion Lutheran Church in Wooster.

The next pastor was the Rev. Paul Obenauf, who served until Jan. 1, when the Rev. W. T. Wilson became pastor. During Rev. Wilson's pastorate, an addition to the church was completed.

Following the resignation of Rev. Wilson in 1959, the congregation issued called Rev. Kampmeyer, who was installed Dec. 27, 1959.

REV. KAMPMEYER, formerly of Middle Lancaster, Pa., was graduated from Geneva College at Beaver Falls in June 1952 and from the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia in May 1955.

SERVICE ABOVE SELF-INTEREST

MOST OF US regard with suspicion the high pressure technique of sales people who have been tutored to believe that any approach is permissible — even outright deceit if the ultimate issue is a sale. We believe that service to the buyer is the basis of all successful selling. We always give our patrons honest counsel on Memorial problems. We try to meet a need with unselfish service, and by building customer confidence which is the guardian of our good reputation. We invite you to visit our showrooms, which are always newly stocked and we assure you of economy at any price you elect to pay. If you have neglected a Memorial project, we will gladly assist you in selecting a Monument.

SERVICE ABOVE SELF-INTEREST

MOST OF US regard with suspicion the high pressure technique of sales people who have been tutored to believe that any approach is permissible — even outright deceit if the ultimate issue is a sale. We believe that service to the buyer is the basis of all successful selling. We always give our patrons honest counsel on Memorial problems. We try to meet a need with unselfish service, and by building customer confidence which is the guardian of our good reputation. We invite you to visit our showrooms, which are always newly stocked and we assure you of economy at any price you elect to pay. If you have neglected a Memorial project, we will gladly assist you in selecting a Monument.

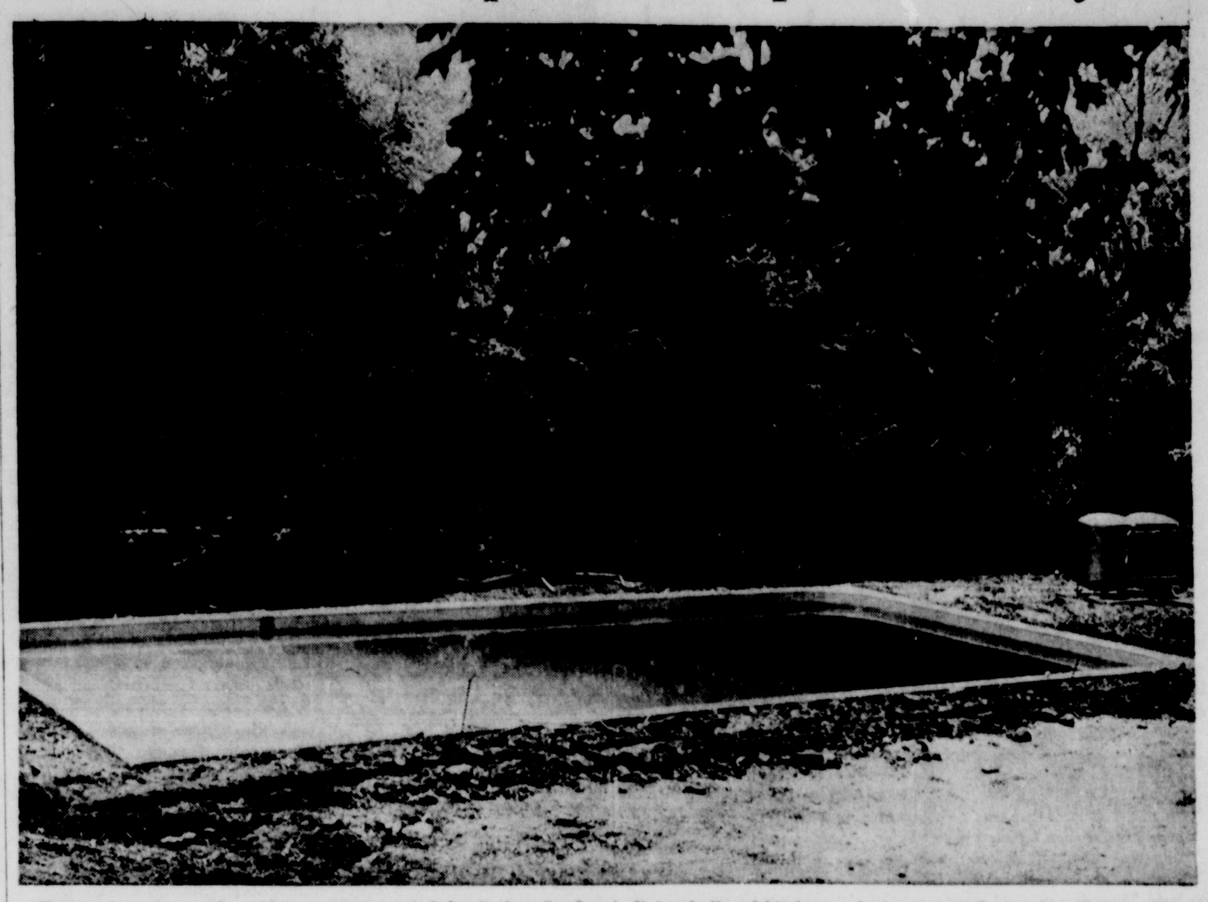
New Pool About Ready

Beaver Creek Camp Season Opens Sunday



Expected to be ready within a few days, this new swimming pool will add to the camping fun of young people from the Steubenville and Mahoning Presbyteries of the United Presbyterian Church beginning next week at the Beaver Creek Camp at Grimms Bridge.

The Travis Water Treatment Co. of Steubenville started work on the $19,500 project in mid-April but recent rainy weather delayed final phases. It was to have been ready for the first camp period beginning Sunday afternoon.

The Rev. Mark Allen of Toronto, chairman of the camp development committee, said the pool is 30 by 60 feet, will use gas-heated water and has underwater lights. The capacity will be limited to 45 swimmers. John McInroy of Hubbard will be full-time lifeguard during the summer.

A new maintenance building, about 30 by 50 feet, was constructed last winter, and a new dining hall and kitchen and winter quarter were erected in 1960. The camp site was purchased by the two Presbyteries in 1953 and first used in 1954.

There are three full - time cooks and a full-time nurse.

An attendance equaling last season's 700, including 100 adult counselors, is expected this season lasting through August, Rev. Allen said.

Weekly attendance ranges up to 100 with 11 periods planned during the season. Next week's period is for Senior High youths. There are three cabins for boys and four for girls.

About 40 of the 65 churches in the Steubenville Presbytery will be represented with a similar number from the Mahoning Presbytery.

Rev. Allen said there is a capital investment of about $150,000 in the camp. The Rev. Gene Toot, associate minister of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, is a trustee and Mrs. Allen Pepin of East Liverpool is registrar.

First Nazarenes To Honor Departing Minister Monday

A farewell will be held Monday night at 7:30 at the Mary Patterson Memorial for the Rev. and Mrs. James C. Hunton of the First Church of the Nazarene.

He will present his final sermon at the church Sunday morning at 10:45 before assuming his new duties as district superintendent of the Philadelphia Area of the denomination.

The affair Monday night also will mark the farewell for his son, the Rev. Jay E. Hunton, who with his wife, Carol, and daughter, Heather Jayne, will leave Aug. 1 for Nyasaland, Africa.

Rev. Jay Hunton will present his farewell message Sunday night at 7.

Rev. Hunton has been pastor of the city church for seven years. Aside from his new duties, he will serve on the Board of Trustees of the Eastern Nazarene College at Wollaston, Mass., and be a delegate to the General Quadrennial Assembly of the denomination in June 1964 at Portland, Ore.

He came here from Cleveland.

The closing program for Vacation Bible School at the church will be held tomorrow morning at 9:30. There were 324 enrolled the first week. The average nightly attendance was 238. The school ministered to 943 individuals. It ended Friday night.

Salvation Army School Arranged

Daily Vacation Bible School at the Salvation Army, 413 E. 4th St., will commence next Monday evening at 6:30 and extend through June 19. Sessions will be held nightly on weekdays. It will be conducted by Mrs. William Hathorn with Mrs. Florence Clutter assistant supervisor.

Teachers assigned are:

Miss Rose Marie Kozora Is Bride In Wellsville Rites

MRS. J. M. WOLF
Weds In Church Nuptials.

Miss Rose Marie Kozora wore a triple, bouffant fingertip veil of imported silk illusion when she became the bride of John D. Wolf last Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church of Wellsville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Kozora, 930 Wood St., Wellsville, and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wolf of 1st. St., Wellsville.

Fr. Gerald X. Curran, pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with chrysanthemums, palms, and candelabra. Satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. James O'Reilly presented a half hour of organ music. She and her husband sang the High Nuptial Mass. He sang "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother" as the bride placed a bouquet before the statue of the Virgin Mary.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father.

She wore a floor-length gown of silk organza designed with an embroidered jacket. The bouffant skirt, fashioned in a bell-shape, fell into a chapel train. Sprays of Chantilly lace accented the jacket and skirt.

Her veil was attached to a matching cabbage rose highlighted with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a cascade arrangement of white gladiolus and lily-of-the-valley, centered with a white orchid.

Miss Kathy Kozora, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Frank Gibas, her aunt, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sylvia Siudak and Miss Judy Siudak, cousins of the bride, and Miss Virginia Ours.

They wore identical dresses of silk organza styled with detachable overskirts. The maid and matron wore blue and the bridesmaids, pink. Their matching headpieces, trimmed with seed pearls, held theater veils. They carried Colonial bouquets of pink and blue tinted carnations encircled with miniature gladiolus and lily-of-the-valley.

Robert Nolan was best man. Ushers were Jack Kozora, brother of the bride, Leo Jobe, Fred McIntosh and Thomas Haugh.

The bride's mother chose a cocoa-color Chantilly lace sheath with matching bolero jacket, pale green accessories and a corsage of white carnations tipped with green. The mother of the bridegroom wore a beige lace sheath with matching jacket, lime accessories and white carnation corsages tipped in matching lime color.

A dinner for 85 members of the bridal party and families was served by the Sons of Italy Lodge at the Hotel Wilk.

The reception at the Knights of Columbus Hall was attended by about 300. The buffet table was centered with a four-tier cake encircled by white carnations. The hall was decorated in a theme of blue, pink and white. Music was furnished by the Chetock Orchestra.

Aides were Miss Theresa Comparetta, Miss Jane Murray and Mrs. Jennie Holowaty.

For her honeymoon to Niagara Falls and Canada, the bride wore a beige silk suit with tan accessories and her bridal orchid.

The newlyweds are graduates of Wellsville High School, the bride in 1959 and her husband in 1958. The bridegroom served in the Army, including duty in Korea, and is employed at the Wellsville China Co. They will reside on 1st St.

Miss McCullough Chosen

Wells Queen Crowned

Dark-haired Kay McCullough is crowned queen of the Wells High School Junior - Senior Prom by James Seevers, president of the Junior Class, at the annual event Friday night in the school auditorium in Newell.

"Beyond the Blue Horizon" was the theme, and the queen's throne was elevated in front of a simulated flaming sunset, flanked by trees and other garden decorations made of paper. Students entered the dancing area through simulated blue mountains. The false ceiling was of multi-colored paper streamers.

Six junior girls served as the queen's court, Linda Baker, Dierdre Evans, Kristen Bennett, Francis Wilson, Judy Adkins and Karen Dement.

The court was escorted by six ninth grade boys who served as pages and handed out refreshments. They were Rick Allison, James Carson, George Gogol, David Gamble, Ivan Howell and Marvin Six.

An estimated 500 filled the auditorium for the crowning ceremonies at 9. About 150 students and faculty members attended the prom, with Dick Golden's band providing music.

Post-prom activities included a dinner at midnight in the fire station, and professional entertainment and more dancing at the high school. Stan Scott of WSTV-TV in Steubenville was disc jockey.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies assisted in directing traffic and escorting the students in the community. Mrs. Ruth Shilling and Peter Horoszko are faculty sponsors.

County's Health Head Urges Safe And Healthy Swimming

LISBON — In the summertime, America is a nation of swimmers.

Home pools are fast becoming as common in backyards as on movie stars' and millionaires' estates. Community pools and swim clubs outnumber country clubs.

Swimming is one of the healthiest of sports and should be kept that way, says Dr. C. S. Palmer of the Columbiana County Department of Health.

"We all know of the risk of drowning, but not everyone thinks of the danger of cuts, scrapes, concussions, fractures or electric shocks. Swimming pool accidents have become a greater problem than pool sanitation and infection, according to an authority of the American Public Health Association," the health commissioners said.

Overcrowding is a common cause of accidents. So is running on the wet hard surface around the edge of the pool, where a slip and fall can have nasty results. Jumping or diving into shallow water or crowded spots can produce broken bones and cracked skulls. Placing pools within range of wires on power lines has led to tragic results. Extreme caution should be exercised with lighting equipment and electric appliance used in an about the pool.

In public pools, a qualified lifetimes the pool is open, and there should be one lifeguard for every 75 persons in the pool area.

Before installing a home pool, local health and safety regulations should be checked. These include provision for proper fencing, sanitation, drainage, structural stability, proper distance from property and power lines and other precautions.

This applies particularly to home-built or portable pools. Fences and gates should be adequate to prevent youngsters from entering when the pool is unattended. Equipment for assistance to swimmers in distress should be kept at poolside.

Reputable swimming pool construction companies know the regulations, as well as the specifications for filtering systems and disinfectant chemicals, Dr. Palmer said.

Glass Firm Agrees To Dispose Of 6 Plants

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Owens-Illinois Glass Co. has agreed to dispose of a containerboard mill in Jacksonville, Fla., and five corrugated shipping container plants.

The agreement was in a consent judgement proposed Friday in U. S. District Court by the firm and the Justice Department. If accepted by the court, it will fully settle the anti-trust suit brought by the government after the 1956 merger of Owens-Illinois and the National Container Corp.

Woman Hurt In Home Fall

A Wellsville woman, injured in a fall at home, was admitted to City Hospital where five others were treated Friday.

Mrs. Helen Moncrief, 417 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, was in "good" condition today with a fractured arm suffered in the fall.

Mrs. Esther Davis, 209 Walnut St., suffered a severe sprain of the left ankle and contusions and abrasions of the right knee in a fall on W. 6th St. yesterday about noon.

Mrs. Harriet Slagle, 900 Locust St., suffered a closed fracture of the left foot while playing volleyball at the YMCA.

BPW To Hold Style Show Of Own Clothing

Members of the East Liverpool BPW Club will demonstrate that they are more than business and professional women when they present a style show, featuring fashions they have made, at the closing dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Travelers Hotel.

Modeling a variety of dresses, sports wear and ensembles will be Mrs. Geraldine Bricker, Mrs. Eileen Brown, Mrs. Adelene MacBurney, Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, Mrs. Miriam Dunn, Mrs. Dorothy Evans, Miss Della Ingles, Mrs. Margaret Locke and Mrs. Virginia Manypenny.

Mrs. Betty Reed will be commentator. Mrs. Helen Moore, president, will preside. Convention reports will be heard.

Mrs. Mary McCullough, past president and District 8 director, will install incoming officers and standing committee chairmen.

Mrs. Dunlop, chairman, and Mrs. Emma Maloney, vice chairman, and members of the civic participation committee are in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Wilma Mason will handle decorations.

Reservations must be in by Sunday with members of the retiring board, Miss Roberta Pennybaker, Mrs. Mason, Miss Helen Bibbee, Miss Helen Auld, Miss Joan Witt and Mrs. Clara Hall.

Fire Damages Wiring Of City Firm's Truck

The wiring and hood of an Iron City Distributing Co. truck was damaged by fire Friday afternoon after a backfire through the carburetor.

Firemen said the backfire was caused by lack of an air cleaner. The alarm was received at 3:03 p. m.

The department was called to 6th and Market Sts. at 2:28 p.m. to quell a fire in a trash can caused by a discarded cigarette.

They were called to 918 Columbia St. at 3:07 p.m. by a report of a fire but found the home was being fumigated. Neighbors saw smoke and believed the house was on fire, firemen said.

Salineville Firemen Discuss Celebration

SALINEVILLE — Plans for the annual firemen's celebration were outlined at a meeting of the volunteers Thursday night.

Fred Wilson, president, said the observance will be July 8-13 at the Hart Motor Co. lot on W. Main St.

The Heck Amusement Co. of East Liverpool will provide the rides. The firemen have advance sale tickets.

$7 Million Fund Drive Slated By Ohio Methodists

LAKESIDE, Ohio (AP)—Plans have been approved by the Methodist Ohio Annual Conference to raise $7 million for the four Ohio Methodist colleges and seven Wesley foundations.

Delegates consented Friday to divide $6 million equally among the colleges—Mount Union, Ohio Northern, Ohio Wesleyan and Baldwin-Wallace. Wesley foundations will share $1 million.

The campaign was set for 1965. However, it is contingent upon the approval of the Northeast Ohio Conference, which holds its annual meeting here June 18-23.

The conference accepted the report of the Division of Temperance and General Welfare, presented by the Rev. Emerson Abts of Toledo. It viewed with alarm the large number of school dropouts, many of whom are unemployed, and supported government programs of youth conservation work, a domestic peace corps and other similar projects.

The report also advocated birth control, which, it said, is best achieved through the sharing of information "voluntarily offered and sought."

First place winners of the Annual Town and Country "Church of the Year" were presented awards. They are in Jacksonville, Harpster, Spring Valley and Mount Moriah.

Son Of Local Family Appointed As Director

Richard G. Wright of Hudson, N. H., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence D. Wright, 412 Blakeley St., has been elected international director of the Rhode Island Chapter of the International Systems and Procedures Association.

Wright, principal founder and retiring president of the Rhode Island chapter of the management analysts' group, is supervisor of systems and procedures at Sanders Associates in Nashua, N. H. He formerly was with Raytheon's Portsmouth (R.I.) facility.

Ohioville CD Group Discusses Uniforms

Purchase of uniforms for the CD police was discussed when the Ohioville Civil Defense unit met Wednesday night in the Fairview Grange Hall.

License plate emblems have been ordered for unit members.

Sam McKinney, director, announced that $53 was realized from the recent rummage sale in Midland. McKinney expressed appreciation to Anton Martell for use of the building. Next meeting is July 3.

Colts Dump Giants, 2-1; Bucs Beaten

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hal Woodeshick, 30, once was a worrying loser on the verge of quitting baseball when he was talked into giving it one more shot.

He's now a happy winner building a new career as one of the hottest relief pitchers in the business.

The left-hander's latest effort came Friday night in the Houston Colts' 2-1 10-inning victory over San Francisco that dumped the Giants out of a share of the National League lead.

Woodeshick won his fourth straight on Carl Warwick's run-producing single with two out in the last of the 10th, raised his record to 5-1, and with three scoreless innings lowered his earned run average to 0.59, best in the majors.

The Los Angeles Dodgers climbed into the top spot for the first time since the second day of the season while the Giants—losers of five in a row — are bunched with the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals in second .002 points behind.

Don Drysdale threw a seven-hitter and was backed by homers from Frank Howard and John Roseboro as the Dodgers ended the Cubs' winning streak at five games, 4-1. Duke Snider's three-run homer with one away in the bottom of the ninth powered New York's last-place Mets over the Cards 3-2.

In the other NL game, Denis Menke's single and Hank Aaron's 17th homer were key blows in Milwaukee's 9-5 decision over Pittsburgh. The Cincinnati Reds' match with the Phils at Philadelphia was rained out.

Drysdale, now 7-6, struck out nine, did not allow a walk and the lone Cub run was unearned. The Dodgers went into a 2-0 lead against Paul Toth in the fifth on the second of Willie Davis' three singles, his steal of second, an infield single by Drysdale and two infield outs.

The Mets were stifled on two singles by rookie Ron Taylor through eight innings but chased him in the ninth on Frank Thomas' one-out single and Ron Hunt's walk. Southpaw Diomedes Olivo, 43, was summoned to face the left-handed swinging Snider, who tagged the reliever's 2-2 pitch for the game-winning homer.

The Braves blew a four-run lead against the Pirates but took charge in the eighth when Tommy Aaron's sacrifice fly and Menke's single knocked in two runs for a 6-5 edge.

Bright's Win First In Pony

George Bright's crashed the winner's circle for the first time in the Pony League Friday, edging Burbick's, 4-3, although outhit by their opponents.

Capitalizing on five enemy errors, Bright's won behind the pitching of Moore who gave up eight hits, fanned eight and walked only two.

The victors collected only five hits off four Burbick pitchers — Goodballet, Pancake, Kidder and James. Goodballet set down six Bright batters on strikes.

Bright's plated one run in the first inning, then broke loose for three in the second. Kidder, who gave up one hit and three runs in only one inning, was charged with the defeat.

Campbell led Bright's attack with a double and single, while Cunningham, Canne and McDonald each singled. The winners left 14 runners on the bases.

Goodballet and McVey each collected two hits for Burbick's, now 2-2 for the season.

East End scored three times in the fourth inning and added five runs in the sixth frame for an 8-2 victory over Hancock. Barton allowed Hancock only three hits in going the distance, with veteran Chick McMillan behind the plate. Swisher was the loser.

Rogers led East End with two hits, and Anderson socked a homer. Hobbs had a single and double for Hancock.

Chester Merchants beat Gallagher's Market, 5-4. Williams bested McGaffic. Martin of Gallagher's hit a homer, and Torrence of Chester also homered.

All managers are to attend a league meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 in the YMCA to turn in rosters and league fees of $1 per player. There will be no regular scheduled games next week because of a carnival. The league will resume play June 17, although there might be a few make-up games next week.

Candy Spots Belmont Pick

NEW YORK (AP) — Candy Spots was the hard cash favorite for the rich Belmont Stakes today at Aqueduct, but the sentiment was for the longest priced colt in the field—Insurrection.

Insurrection, listed at 30 to 1 in the field of seven, is trained by the grand old man of racing—Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, who will retire as trainer of record June 15. He started his first Belmont horse in the 1922 race, and has had horses in 21 since then, winning 6.

Candy Spots was a 1 to 4 choice with jockey Willie Shoemaker seeking his fourth Belmont. Chateaugay was rated next at 4-1, having lost the Preakness to Candy Spots. Wheatley Stable's Insurrection, L. L. Haggin 2nd's Choker, George D. Widener's Top Gallant, C. V. Whitney's Tom Cat, and Patrice Jacobs' Bonjour completed the lineup. The pot will gross $145,450 if seven go. The winner's swag is $101,700.

The Belmont was scheduled to be televised and broadcast (CBS) from 3:30-4 p.m. EST, with post time 3:48 p.m

Yanks Put Mick On Disabled List

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle, convalescing at his home in Dallas from a broken left foot, was placed on the disabled list by the New York Yankees Friday.

The slugging center fielder sustained the injury crashing into the outfield fence in Baltimore last Wednesday. He is not expected to return to action for at least five weeks.

Yankee Manager Ralph Houk reluctantly made the decision, which automatically makes Mantle ineligible for 30 days, after conferring with club doctor Sidney Gaynor.

Twins, Tribe, Tigers Post AL Victories

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Somebody must have lit a flame under Juan Pizarro, 26, the Chicago White Sox fireballer.

Pizarro, off to the fastest start of his major league career, provided Chicago with an easy 7-1 triumph over Kansas City Friday night and moved the White Sox to within one-half game of American League leading Baltimore.

The White Sox victory popped them into second place, only a step behind the Orioles, whose game with Boston was rained out. Detroit walloped New York 8-4 dropped the Yankees into third place, two games back.

Elsewhere, Minnesota whipped the Los Angeles Angels 6-1 behind Jim Kaat's five-hit pitching and took over fourth place, while Cleveland thumped Washington 8-1 and ended the Senators longest winning streak of the season at four games.

Al Kaline tagged a three-run homer and Gus Triandos hit a solo shot as the Tigers beat the Yankees for the fifth time in six meetings. Hank Aguirre went the distance for a 5-5 record and drove in a run with a double, the second extra-base hit of his career. Hector Lopez and Bobby Richardson homered for the Yankees.

Kaat brought his record to 5-4 with his fourth straight victory and the Twins' 16th in the last 20 games. Minnesota broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning on Lenny Green's third hit, a two-run single.

The Indians, shutout on two hits for seven innings by Jim Duckworth, made the most of an inning-opening hit batter and three Senators' errors for an eight-run eighth inning that got the job done. During the wild inning three Cleveland runs came across on a sacrifice bunt while Woodie Held, who got hit leading off, rapped a two-run homer his second time around.

Braves' Burdette On Trade Block

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Burdette, veteran Milwaukee pitcher and a two-time 20-game winner, is up for sale despite denials by Braves' officials.

The Associated Press learned Friday night that the 36-year-old right-hander had been placed on waivers by the Braves but was quickly taken off the list when he was claimed by the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Braves apparently had placed Burdette on waivers to try and get him out of the league, presumably to Baltimore's American League pennant hopefuls.

Braves General Manager John McHale denied Burdette was headed for the Orioles.

McBurney, Burbick, Milliron

Decisive Scores Featured In LL

Little League action yesterday found three teams posting decisive triumphs — McBurney's, Burbick's and Milliron's.

Rick Shuck and Dan Myers joined talents to pitch McBurney's to a 13-3 victory over the Medics. The pair yielded only two hits and combined for seven strikeouts — four by Myers and three by Shuck.

They allowed only singles by Don Reynolds and Parfitt of the Medics. Shuck started for McBurney's and was relieved in the fifth by Myers. Karl Sayre was behind the plate.

Chambers and Hoyt pitched for the losers. They struck out five and walked three.

Don Hancock led McBurney's 12-hit attack with a perfect night at the plate — two singles and a double in three trips. Myers had a triple and single, Bruce Christian socked a home run and single, Jerry Christian singled, and Karl Sayre had two singles.

Burbick's pounded out 13 hits in racing to a 13-1 triumph over Chester American Legion. The Legionnaires were held to three hits by Diddle, who fanned eight and walked none. Murray was the losing pitcher.

Steve Logston went four-for-four for the winners, hitting two doubles and a pair of singles. Clark had a triple and two singles, and Johnson a triple and two singles. Stevens doubled and Amedeo and Pittinger singled for Chester.

Rick Wolfe pitched Millirons to an 11-4 win over Golden Star. Millirons collected 12 hits, with Kim Kemple hitting a single and two doubles, Dan Cunningham, a double and single, Marv Shell, two singles, and John Cunningham, two singles. Klembara and Musuraca had three hits for Golden Star.

6 Better 4 Minutes In Compton Mile Run

COMPTON, Calif. (AP) — Six mile runners rushed across the Compton Invitational finish line in less than four minutes Friday night, a record for mass annihiliation of this once fabled time, and the procession was led by Peter Snell of New Zealand.

His time was 3 minutes, 55 seconds, six-tenths of a second off his world record.

Brian Sternberg, of Washington, used his fiber glass pole to raise the rapidly rising world pole vaulting standard to 16 feet 8 inches, bettering his own pending mark of 16-7 set two weeks ago at Modesto, Calif.

Ulis Williams of Arizona State University bettered the listed world 440-yard dash record in 45.6, beating Adolph Plummer of the University of New Mexico, who owns a pending world mark of 44.9. Plummer's losing time against Ulis was also 45.6.

Snell fooled around in eighth place, then sixth, for the first half mile, and then in the final 100 yards ate up the opposition. It was no contest at the finish.

Trailing in order behind the Olympic champion were:

Jim Beatty, 3:55.5; Dyrol Burleson, 3:55.6; Jim Grelle, 3:56.4; Cary Weisiger, 3:57.1, and Bob Seaman, 3:59.1.

Potters Bank In Romp Over M.&A., 26-10

Cracking out a total of 20 base hits, Potters Bank & Trust Co. rolled to a 26-10 win over M. & A. Motors in one of two Little Minor League games Friday.

Jeff Michels hurled for the winners, allowing the motor agency nine hits and fanning six. Jerry Bibbee was behind the plate. Gary Ridgon had four singles and a double for Potters Bank.

Horoszko was the loser. Schultz had a single and double for M. & A.

Potters Savings & Loan Co. won handily over Tri-State Appliance, 10-3. Smith was the winning pitcher, besting Bosco. Cooper had three hits for the winners.

St. Aloysius Blanks Boyce Methodist, 6-0

St. Aloysius trimmed Boyce Methodist Church, 6-0, behind a nine-hit attack in one of two YMCA Church Softball League games Friday.

Joe Presutti was the winning pitcher. Bill Fish, Bill Dold and Frank Gibas had two hits each for the winners, and both teams played errorless ball.

Colts Dump Giants, 2-1; Bucs Beaten

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hal Woodeshick, 30, once was a worrying loser on the verge of quitting baseball when he was talked into giving it one more shot.

He's now a happy winner building a new career as one of the hottest relief pitchers in the business.

The left-hander's latest effort came Friday night in the Houston Colts' 2-1 10-inning victory over San Francisco that dumped the Giants out of a share of the National League lead.

Woodeshick won his fourth straight on Carl Warwick's run-producing single with two out in the last of the 10th, raised his record to 5-1, and with three scoreless innings lowered his earned run average to 0.59, best in the majors.

The Los Angeles Dodgers climbed into the top spot for the first time since the second day of the season while the Giants—losers of five in a row — are bunched with the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals in second .002 points behind.

Don Drysdale threw a seven-hitter and was backed by homers from Frank Howard and John Roseboro as the Dodgers ended the Cubs' winning streak at five games, 4-1. Duke Snider's three-run homer with one away in the bottom of the ninth powered New York's last-place Mets over the Cards 3-2.

In the other NL game, Denis Menke's single and Hank Aaron's 17th homer were key blows in Milwaukee's 9-5 decision over Pittsburgh. The Cincinnati Reds' match with the Phils at Philadelphia was rained out.

Drysdale, now 7-6, struck out nine, did not allow a walk and the lone Cub run was unearned. The Dodgers went into a 2-0 lead against Paul Toth in the fifth on the second of Willie Davis' three singles, his steal of second, an infield single by Drysdale and two infield outs.

The Mets were stifled on two singles by rookie Ron Taylor through eight innings but chased him in the ninth on Frank Thomas' one-out single and Ron Hunt's walk. Southpaw Diomedes Olivo, 43, was summoned to face the left-handed swinging Snider, who tagged the reliever's 2-2 pitch for the game-winning homer.

The Braves blew a four-run lead against the Pirates but took charge in the eighth when Tommy Aaron's sacrifice fly and Menke's single knocked in two runs for a 6-5 edge.

FIRST BASEMAN Ernie Banks reaches for ball thrown from his pitcher Paul Toth in fifth inning trying to pick off the sliding Willie Davis of the Dodgers in the game Friday at Chicago. Davis managed to get his hand on the bag before Banks could make the tag. Dodgers won, 4-1. (UPI Telephoto)

East End scored three times in the fourth inning and added five runs in the sixth frame for an 8-2 victory over Hancock. Barton allowed Hancock only three hits in going the distance, with veteran Chick McMillan behind the plate. Swisher was the loser.

Rogers led East End with two hits, and Anderson socked a homer. Hobbs had a single and double for Hancock.

Chester Merchants beat Gallagher's Market, 5-4. Williams bested McGaffic. Martin of Gallagher's hit a homer, and Torrence of Chester also homered.

All managers are to attend a league meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 in the YMCA to turn in rosters and league fees of $1 per player. There will be no regular scheduled games next week because of a carnival. The league will resume play June 17, although there might be a few make-up games next week.

Candy Spots Belmont Pick

NEW YORK (AP) — Candy Spots was the hard cash favorite for the rich Belmont Stakes today at Aqueduct, but the sentiment was for the longest priced colt in the field—Insurrection.

Insurrection, listed at 30 to 1 in the field of seven, is trained by the grand old man of racing—Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, who will retire as trainer of record June 15. He started his first Belmont horse in the 1922 race, and has had horses in 21 since then, winning 6.

Candy Spots was a 1 to 4 choice with jockey Willie Shoemaker seeking his fourth Belmont. Chateaugay was rated next at 4-1, having lost the Preakness to Candy Spots. Wheatley Stable's Insurrection, L. L. Haggin 2nd's Choker, George D. Widener's Top Gallant, C. V. Whitney's Tom Cat, and Patrice Jacobs' Bonjour completed the lineup. The pot will gross $145,450 if seven go. The winner's swag is $101,700.

The Belmont was scheduled to be televised and broadcast (CBS) from 3:30-4 p.m. EST, with post time 3:48 p.m.

Yanks Put Mick On Disabled List

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle, convalescing at his home in Dallas from a broken left foot, was placed on the disabled list by the New York Yankees Friday.

The slugging center fielder sustained the injury crashing into the outfield fence in Baltimore last Wednesday. He is not expected to return to action for at least five weeks.

Yankee Manager Ralph Houk reluctantly made the decision, which automatically makes Mantle ineligible for 30 days, after conferring with club doctor Sidney Gaynor.

Braves' Burdette On Trade Block

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Burdette, veteran Milwaukee pitcher and a two-time 20-game winner, is up for sale despite denials by Braves' officials.

The Associated Press learned Friday night that the 36-year-old right-hander had been placed on waivers by the Braves but was quickly taken off the list when he was claimed by the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Braves apparently had placed Burdette on waivers to try and get him out of the league, presumably to Baltimore's American League pennant hopefuls.

Braves General Manager John McHale denied Burdette was headed for the Orioles.

Funeral Services Held For Browns' Halfback

SHADYSIDE, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services will be at 1 p.m. today for Don Fleming, Cleveland Browns' defensive halfback who was electrocuted accidentally while working on a construction project in Orlando, Fla., Tuesday.

Coaches, officials and players of the National Football League club will fly on a chartered plane to the funeral from Cleveland. Burial for the 26-year-old Fleming will be across the Ohio River in Wheeling, W. Va.

Slow Pitch League To Open Season With 2 Tilts Monday

The 10-team Slow Pitch League will open its second season with two games Monday at the Dixonville Field in Thompson Park.

Five games will be played each week with two games on Mondays and Wednesdays and a single game on Sunday. All games postponed during the week will be made up on Sunday, Bob Hedmond and Jim Harris, directors, said.

In the opening game Monday at 6 p. m., Mets 22 will meet East End while the 7 p. m. game finds Ohio Valley playing Klondyke.

Wednesday's schedule shows the Bombers facing the Collegians with Osborn Barbers and the East Liverpool Coaches clashing in the nightcap.

Cubs' Dick Ellsworth NL's Player Of Month

CINCINNATI (AP) — Southpaw Dick Ellsworth is the National League's Player of the Month for his four victories in five decisions in May, helping Chicago's Cubs up to the league lead.

Ellsworth won 14 votes from a panel of writers and broadcasters, topping pitcher Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles who had 12 votes.

Another pitcher, veteran Cal McLish of Philadelphia, drew 10 votes, catcher Ed Bailey of San Francisco had 6 votes and third sacker Ken Boyer of St. Louis and outfielder Hank Aaron of Milwaukee won two votes apiece.

Ellsworth gave up only 28 hits and 6 earned runs during 42 innings of work in May.

Two Englishmen Play In Finals Of British Amateur

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, (AP) —Two Englishmen, the most improbable of finalists, meet today in a 36-hole match for the British Amateur Golf Championship, leaving in their wake a toll of 39 Americans including eight Walker Cup players.

The quarter-finals and semi-finals Friday over the 6,936-yard par 72 Old Course sprayed favorites out like a rampant garden hose that slipped its moorings and the survivors were:

John Blackwell, 48, and Michael Lunt, 28. Lunt was the only Walker Cup player to last through the week-long match play.

In the Walker Cup play at Turnberry where the Americans won 12-8, Lunt managed only one-half point by playing one opponent to a tie. This week he knocked four Americans out, including defending champion Dick Davies of Pasadena, Calif., and Dr. Ed Updegraff, Tucson, Ariz, both 1 up.

This was the first time since 1926 that the British staved off an American victory in a year that the U.S. Walker Cup squad was on the scene.

Gen. MacArthur Disposes Of Track And Field Feud

NEW YORK (AP)—Dismissed! In a military manner, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has disposed of the track and field feud that had threatened the U.S. team for the annual meet against Russia in Moscow in July.

The general, obviously irked, told the U.S. Track and Field Federation Friday to let its athletes run in the National AAU championships at St. Louis June 21-22, and stop the quibbling.

The five-star general was appointed by President Kennedy to get the warring groups in line until the 1964 Olympics.

A few hours later, William Russell of Los Angeles, president of the USTFF, sent telegrams to the groups in the federation authorizing their athletes to compete. Russell was at Houston for the USTFF championships.

It ended the USTFF boycott of the AAU meet, where the U.S. team for the Russian meet and three others in Europe will be picked.

Cosmo League Pin Champs Honored At Annual Banquet

Donna's, the 1963 Cosmo League champion, was honored when the League held its annual banquet Wednesday at Deramo's in Midland.

Sponsored by Marie Tweed, the team included Ann Creaturo, Glenda Simms, Nina Monroe, Ann Harding, Dorothy Hill and Sara Purton. Hoffman Plumbing was the runnerup. The sponsor trophy was presented to Mrs. Tweed.

Individual trophies donated by Jack Rudibaugh of the Friendly Bowling Center were won by Phil Stewart with a 221 for the high scratch single game and Ann Creaturo for the high scratch series of 588.

High single game with handicap was won by Stewart with a 233 and high series by Shirley Rogers with 595.

In the team awards, Donna's won the high series with handicap rolling 2,585 and Hoffman Plumbing with 930 for the high single game.

Griffith Slim Pick To Win In Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Emile Griffith, an aggressive, hard-hitting body puncher, was a slim favorite today to beat champion Luis Rodriguez in tonight's 15-round bout and regain the world welterweight crown for a record third time.

Griffith, who has won and lost the title twice, was a 6-5 favorite on the early line to win the rubber match in the third fight with the happy-go-lucky champion, a Cuban exile now living in Miami.

Both the 24-year-old Griffith, a new Yorker originally from the Virgin Islands, and the dancing Rodriguez, predicted a knockout. On the record, it seemed unlikely. Neither man has ever been stopped.

Each has beaten the other once. Griffith won a split decision before either was champion and each was seeking a shot at the late Benny (Kid) Paret, then the champion. Paret died of injuries suffered in a fight with Griffith.

Rodriguez, 25, won the title from Griffith with an unpopular 15-round decision in Los Angeles March 21. A majority of the boxing writers covering the fight scored for Griffith.

The fight, Rodriguez' first defense, was scheduled to be nationally televised from Madison Square Garden starting at 9 p.m. EST.

Griffith took a record of 35-4 into the bout, including 13 knockouts. Rodriguez is 50-2, including 21 knockouts.

West Virginia Derby Slated At Waterford

The West Virginia Derby, held for the past four years at Wheeling Downs, will be moved to Waterford Park this summer, according to Harry Bell, general manager of Waterford Park.

Bell said the annual event will be held July 27.

Catcher Ellie Howard of the Yankees paced American League catchers in 1962. He made only four errors in 129 games.

Boros Leads In Flint Open

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—"I wish I could find the guy who stole my putter," says Julius Boros.

The big, swarthy North Carolinian, out in front by two strokes in the $52,000 Flint Open golf tournament thanks to an old, spare putter, indicated gratitude to the culprit.

Someone swiped Boros' putter at the last Masters tournament. He has been hot with the spare one ever since.

Boros fired a 6-under-par 66 Friday for the lead, dropping birdie putts of 35 and 25 feet among his 10 one-putt greens.

The 43-year-old veteran seized the lead in the big field at Warwick Hills from Jerry Pittman, a Tulsan 17 years his junior. Pittman earlier had shot a 4-under-par 68 on the 7,280-yard course.

The meet, rained out Thursday when Tony Lema lost a 5-under-par 67 with all scores canceled, moved into its second round today with the pressure on Boros.

LEGAL NOTICE
THE STATE OF OHIO, COLUMBIANA COUNTY, SS:
IN THE PROBATE COURT
Case No. 58155-A

LUCILLE M. MONROE, Administratrix of the Estate of Samuel Wheeler, Deceased, Plaintiff, vs. JOSEPH WHEELER, ET AL, Defendants.

Joseph Wheeler, who resides at 3507 Ladd Street, Dallas, Texas, in Dallas County, State of Texas, will take notice that Lucille M. Monroe, as administratrix of the Estate of Samuel Wheeler, deceased, on the 24th day of May, 1963, filed a petition in the probate court of Columbiana County, State of Ohio, alleging that the personal estate of said decedent is not sufficient to pay his debts and the charges of administering his estate; that the decedent was seized in fee simple of the following described real estate:

An undivided one-half interest situated in the County of Columbiana, State of Ohio, and City of East Liverpool and bounded and described as follows: Known as and being part of Lots Number 1827 and 1826 as same are designated and described on the recorded plat of the Knowles, Taylor and Knowles Addition to the City of East Liverpool and being more fully described by commencing at the Northeast corner of lot Number 1827 and running thence with the line of Boyce Street West a distance of 44.00 feet to the place of beginning of the tract herein described; thence further with the line of Boyce Street West a distance of 20 feet to a point; thence Southwardly and parallel with the line of Maple Street a distance of 60 feet to the South line of lot Number 1826; thence with the said South line of lot Number 1826 Eastwardly a distance of 20 feet to a point; thence Northwardly and parallel with the line of Maple Street a distance of 60 feet to the place of beginning. Being previously recorded in Volume 683, Page 299 of the Columbiana County Record of Deeds.

The prayer of said petition is for the sale of said premises for the payment of debts and charges aforesaid.

The defendant named above is required to answer the same on or before the 29th day of June, 1963.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Evaline Moore who passed away 1 year ago June 8, 1962.
When the evening shades are falling,
And I'm sitting all alone,
In my heart there comes a longing
If you only could come home.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget
But time so far has only proved
How much I miss you yet.
Altho your soul is now at rest,
And free from care and pain
This world would seem like Heaven
If I had you back again.
God gives us strength to carry on
And courage to heal the blow
But what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
You bid no one a last farewell
Or even said goodbye
You were gone before we knew it
And only God knows why.
Sadly missed by her daughter, Anna and son, Bill.

Slow Pitch League To Open Season With 2 Tilts Monday

The 10-team Slow Pitch League will open its second season with two games Monday at the Dixonville Field in Thompson Park.

Five games will be played each week with two games on Mondays and Wednesdays and a single game on Sunday. All games postponed during the week will be made up on Sunday, Bob Hedmond and Jim Harris, directors, said.

In the opening game Monday at 6 p. m., Mets 22 will meet East End while the 7 p. m. game finds Ohio Valley playing Klondyke.

Cubs' Dick Ellsworth NL's Player Of Month

CINCINNATI (AP) — Southpaw Dick Ellsworth is the National League's Player of the Month for his four victories in five decisions in May, helping Chicago's Cubs up to the league lead.

Ellsworth won 14 votes from a panel of writers and broadcasters, topping pitcher Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles who had 12 votes.

Another pitcher, veteran Cal McLish of Philadelphia, drew 10 votes, catcher Ed Bailey of San Francisco had 6 votes and third sacker Ken Boyer of St. Louis and outfielder Hank Aaron of Milwaukee won two votes apiece.

Ellsworth gave up only 28 hits and 6 earned runs during 42 innings of work in May.

Two Englishmen Play In Finals Of British Amateur

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, (AP) —Two Englishmen, the most improbable of finalists, meet today in a 36-hole match for the British Amateur Golf Championship, leaving in their wake a toll of 39 Americans including eight Walker Cup players.

The quarter-finals and semi-finals Friday over the 6,936-yard par 72 Old Course sprayed favorites out like a rampant garden hose that slipped its moorings and the survivors were:

John Blackwell, 48, and Michael Lunt, 28. Lunt was the only Walker Cup player to last through the week-long match play.

In the Walker Cup play at Turnberry where the Americans won 12-8, Lunt managed only one-half point by playing one opponent to a tie. This week he knocked four Americans out, including defending champion Dick Davies of Pasadena, Calif., and Dr. Ed Updegraff, Tucson, Ariz, both 1 up.

This was the first time since 1926 that the British staved off an American victory in a year that the U.S. Walker Cup squad was on the scene.

Gen. MacArthur Disposes Of Track And Field Feud

NEW YORK (AP)—Dismissed! In a military manner, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has disposed of the track and field feud that had threatened the U.S. team for the annual meet against Russia in Moscow in July.

The general, obviously irked, told the U.S. Track and Field Federation Friday to let its athletes run in the National AAU championships at St. Louis June 21-22, and stop the quibbling.

The five-star general was appointed by President Kennedy to get the warring groups in line until the 1964 Olympics.

A few hours later, William Russell of Los Angeles, president of the USTFF, sent telegrams to the groups in the federation authorizing their athletes to compete. Russell was at Houston for the USTFF championships.

It ended the USTFF boycott of the AAU meet, where the U.S. team for the Russian meet and three others in Europe will be picked.

Cosmo League Pin Champs Honored At Annual Banquet

Donna's, the 1963 Cosmo League champion, was honored when the League held its annual banquet Wednesday at Deramo's in Midland.

Sponsored by Marie Tweed, the team included Ann Creaturo, Glenda Simms, Nina Monroe, Ann Harding, Dorothy Hill and Sara Purton. Hoffman Plumbing was the runnerup. The sponsor trophy was presented to Mrs. Tweed.

Individual trophies donated by Jack Rudibaugh of the Friendly Bowling Center were won by Phil Stewart with a 221 for the high scratch single game and Ann Creaturo for the high scratch series of 588.

High single game with handicap was won by Stewart with a 233 and high series by Shirley Rogers with 595.

In the team awards, Donna's won the high series with handicap rolling 2,585 and Hoffman Plumbing with 930 for the high single game.

Griffith Slim Pick To Win In Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Emile Griffith, an aggressive, hard-hitting body puncher, was a slim favorite today to beat champion Luis Rodriguez in tonight's 15-round bout and regain the world welterweight crown for a record third time.

Griffith, who has won and lost the title twice, was a 6-5 favorite on the early line to win the rubber match in the third fight with the happy-go-lucky champion, a Cuban exile now living in Miami.

Both the 24-year-old Griffith, a new Yorker originally from the Virgin Islands, and the dancing Rodriguez, predicted a knockout. On the record, it seemed unlikely. Neither man has ever been stopped.

Each has beaten the other once. Griffith won a split decision before either was champion and each was seeking a shot at the late Benny (Kid) Paret, then the champion. Paret died of injuries suffered in a fight with Griffith.

Rodriguez, 25, won the title from Griffith with an unpopular 15-round decision in Los Angeles March 21. A majority of the boxing writers covering the fight scored for Griffith.

The fight, Rodriguez' first defense, was scheduled to be nationally televised from Madison Square Garden starting at 9 p.m. EST.

Griffith took a record of 35-4 into the bout, including 13 knockouts. Rodriguez is 50-2, including 21 knockouts.

Boros Leads In Flint Open

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—"I wish I could find the guy who stole my putter," says Julius Boros.

The big, swarthy North Carolinian, out in front by two strokes in the $52,000 Flint Open golf tournament thanks to an old, spare putter, indicated gratitude to the culprit.

Someone swiped Boros' putter at the last Masters tournament. He has been hot with the spare one ever since.

Boros fired a 6-under-par 66 Friday for the lead, dropping birdie putts of 35 and 25 feet among his 10 one-putt greens.

The 43-year-old veteran seized the lead in the big field at Warwick Hills from Jerry Pittman, a Tulsan 17 years his junior. Pittman earlier had shot a 4-under-par 68 on the 7,280-yard course.

The meet, rained out Thursday when Tony Lema lost a 5-under-par 67 with all scores canceled, moved into its second round today with the pressure on Boros.

West Virginia Derby Slated At Waterford

The West Virginia Derby, held for the past four years at Wheeling Downs, will be moved to Waterford Park this summer, according to Harry Bell, general manager of Waterford Park.

Bell said the annual event will be held July 27.

Catcher Ellie Howard of the Yankees paced American League catchers in 1962. He made only four errors in 129 games.

IN THE PROBATE COURT
Case No. 58155-A

LUCILLE M. MONROE, Administratrix of the Estate of Samuel Wheeler, Deceased, Plaintiff, vs. JOSEPH WHEELER, ET AL., Defendants.

Joseph Wheeler, who resides at 3507 Ladd Street, Dallas, Texas, in Dallas County, State of Texas, will take notice that Lucille M. Monroe, as administratrix of the Estate of Samuel Wheeler, deceased, on the 24th day of May, 1963, filed a petition in the probate court of Columbiana County, State of Ohio, alleging that the personal estate of said decedent is not sufficient to pay his debts and the charges of administering his estate; that the decedent was seized in fee simple of the following described real estate:

An undivided one-half interest situated in the County of Columbiana, State of Ohio, and City of East Liverpool and bounded and described as follows: Known as and being part of Lots Number 1827 and 1826 as same are designated and described on the recorded plat of the Knowles, Taylor and Knowles Addition to the City of East Liverpool and being more fully described by commencing at the Northeast corner of lot Number 1827 and running thence with the line of Boyce Street West a distance of 44.00 feet to the place of beginning of the tract herein described; thence further with the line of Boyce Street West a distance of 20 feet to a point; thence Southwardly and parallel with the line of Maple Street a distance of 60 feet to the South line of lot Number 1826; thence with the said South line of lot Number 1826 Eastwardly a distance of 20 feet to a point; thence Northwardly and parallel with the line of Maple Street a distance of 60 feet to the place of beginning. Being previously recorded in Volume 683, Page 299 of the Columbiana County Record of Deeds.

The prayer of said petition is for the sale of said premises for the payment of debts and charges aforesaid.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Evaline Moore who passed away 1 year ago June 8, 1962.
When the evening shades are falling,
And I'm sitting all alone,
In my heart there comes a longing
If you only could come home.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget
But time so far has only proved
How much I miss you yet.
Altho your soul is now at rest,
And free from care and pain
This world would seem like Heaven
If I had you back again.
God gives us strength to carry on
And courage to heal the blow
But what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
You bid no one a last farewell
Or even said goodbye
You were gone before we knew it
And only God knows why.
Sadly missed by her daughter, Anna and son, Bill.

PL. HTS., SPRING GROVE—Four rooms and bath, two story, new gas furnace, several lots included, near the bus line. $5,300.

1653 PENNA. AVENUE. Three rental units under one roof, a really nice apartment on the main floor for the owner to live in, and a dandy income from the other two. Provides an income of more than enough to pay it off, and the financing would be very attractive for you. $8,500.

EPHRIAM STREET. About as neat a five room older home as you will find, with definitely as nice a kitchen as you would want, hardwood floors, good roof, good paint job, new large block garage, and a real nice yard, too. $9,300.

PARK WAY. Just got the word that this owner may be willing to trade for a good smaller home as that is what he needs. His place is a full acre of grounds with trees and nice lawn, room for a garden, tennis court, etc. The home is mainly a one story, family room, beautiful kitchen, powder room and full bath, living room fireplace, two bedrooms, plus two more up you can use or ignore, as you see fit. Double garage, oil furnace. $16,950. A chance to make a trade and please two families.

Junior Editors Quiz on PENGUINS

ANSWER: When one remembers that penquins, like other birds, are warm blooded animals and must maintain an inside body temperature of 100 degrees or more, it does seem remarkable they can survive the extreme cold of the Antarctic continent. If you had the muscles and body of a penquin, however, and could slip inside the two little coats our artist has drawn, you would understand. The coat to the left would go on first; it's made of smooth shiny blubber up to an inch thick. This heavy layer of fat is what protects whales and other sea animals from the cold. Penquins have a second coat of fine feathers lying so close together they give a surface resembling satin — and secreting an oil which repels water, ice and snow. So, howling blizzards don't affect penquins in the least. The gay little Adelie penquins which we illustrate are born clowns and love to play games and march like rows of soldiers. Underwater, they are incredibly graceful and use their flipper-like wings for propulsion. Penquins have been clocked swimming 30 feet per second when submerged.

FOR YOU TO DO: Penquins seem to enjoy diving especially. This is a fine summer sport for you to take up. Be sure there are no submerged dangers under the water before you dive in.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, June 8

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1905, President Theodore Roosevelt sent messages to Russia and Japan, offering his services to arrange a peace in the Russo-Japanese War. His offer led to the conference in Portsmouth, N.H., and eventually a treaty ending the conflict.

On this date:

In 1758, Lord Jeffrey Amherst landed his troops in Nova Scotia.

In 1915, William Jennings Bryan resigned as secretary of state after a disagreement with President Woodrow Wilson on policy arising out of the sinking of the Lusitania.

Ten years ago: The Supreme Court ruled that District of Columbia restaurants could not legally refuse to serve those the court described as "well behaved and respectable Negroes."

Five years ago: Greek and Turkish Cypriots were engaged in the most serious fighting in the history of the Island of Cyprus.

Earth's Crust Weak In Area Of Volcano

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — There has always been a weak spot in the earth's crust along Northeast Sicily where volcanic Mt. Etna rises 10,000 feet above the Mediterranean.

Prof. Alfredo Rittman, director of the Catania Institute of Vulcanology, says Etna reared up hundreds of thousands of years ago over the cones of a whole series of previous volcanos there. Part of the cone of the last one before the present Etna can be seen in a lava valley part way down the present mountain slope.

Deaths and Funerals

Death Claims Woman At 88

EAST PALESTINE — Miss Jenny Rukenbrod, 120 Boardman St., died Friday at 5 p.m. at home, following a two-year illness. She was 88.

She was born April 26, 1875, in New Middletown to Jonathan J. Rukenbrod and Julia Buffinger Rukenbrod, and was a member of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

Miss Rukenbrod leaves a niece, Mrs. Martha Ganoe of Carlsbad, Calif., and three nephews, Albert Forney, Kenneth Rukenbrod and John Shook, all of East Palestine.

Services will be held Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Van Dyke Funeral Home by the Rev. Chalmers Goshorn. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Ada Swearingen

Mrs. Ada L. Swearingen, 74, of Bell, Calif., died at 7 p. m. Friday at a hospital there, following a long illness.

She was born in Pittsburgh July 1, 1889, to William Shepherd and Ara Salsberry Shepherd, and resided in East Liverpool several years before moving to California five years ago.

A member of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, she was employed last at the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. as a finisher and belonged to the IBOP.

She leaves her husband, Loran Swearingen at home, and three sisters, Mrs. Lillian Feldkamp of Huntington Park, Calif., Mrs. Lois Hanway of Baltimore and Mrs. Clara Wetzel of East Liverpool.

Services will be held Monday in the Rose Hill Mortuary at Whittier, Calif., with burial there.

Infant Schoolcraft

Services were held at 11 a. m. today for Ruth Ellen Schoolcraft, infant daughter of William J. Schoolcraft and Carolyn Lee Robbins Schoolcraft, 1122 St. Clair Ave., who died Friday at 12:30 p. m. at City Hospital, where she was born Monday.

The Rev. Ronald Rearic of the Boyce Methodist Church officiated at the Martin Funeral Home. Burial was in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Besides the parents, survivors include a brother, David E. Schoolcraft at home; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Robbins, and the maternal great - grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Robbins and Roy Manypenny, all of East Liverpool, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Schoolcraft, and the paternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Schoolcraft and Mrs. Anna Collins, all of Wellsville.

Edward J. Wade

Edward Jerome Wade, 89, of Joppa, Ill., father of Hadley Wade of Deerfield, who is former assistant lockmaster at Dam 8 at Newell, died Friday at a hospital there.

He leaves another son, Cecil Wade of Metropolis, Ill., and two daughters, Mrs. Althea Woods of California and Mrs. Verla English of Chicago. Services and burial will be in Metropolis.

Husband Sues Salem For Wife's Injuries

LISBON — Bruce R. Hack of Salem filed suit Friday for $15,000 against the city of Salem, asking expenses and reimbursement of being deprived of his wife's services as the result of injuries she allegedly suffered in a fall at the Centennial Park Pool at Salem July 4, 1959.

Hack said his wife slipped when she stepped into a foot bath at the pool and fractured her right knee cap. He claims he has paid bills of $1,200 so far and has lost his wife's services since then.

Mrs. Hack filed a $35,000 personal injury suit against the city and on July 14, 1961, it was dismissed by Common Pleas Court. Jan. 20, 1962, the 7th District Court of Appeals affirmed the lower court's ruling but on April 24, 1963, the State Supreme Court reversed the two lower courts and remanded the case back to Common Pleas Court for further proceedings.

Lions Scrapbook Wins International Honors

A scrapbook compiled by Richard Walker, a member of the East Liverpool Lions Club and district public relations chairman, has been selected as a winner of the "Leo Award" by Lions International, George McCullough, district governor, revealed at the club's meeting Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

The "Leo Award" will be presented to Walker at the Ohio breakfast June 21 at 11:30 a.m. at the Fountainebleau Hotel in Miami Beach at the international convention.

Both Walker and McCullough, who will relinquish the governor's post to Gerald Leasure of Toronto, will attend the convention.

Miss Selma Ladzinske, city public health nurse, discussed her work and the servces available, pointing out public health nursing has undergone a great transformation from bed care to teaching.

Explaining she is the only health nurse in the city, Miss Ladzinske said she was unable to offer bed care but teaches families how to care for bed patients.

She was introduced by Fred Kane, program chairman.

John T. Smith, president, reminded members of the Installation Night dinner Tuesday at 6:30 at the Country Club.

Plans also have been started for the annual tennis tournament sponsored by the club with Harry Faulk as chairman.

Toronto District Crash Injures 2

Two were injured in a two-car crash on Route 213 almost six miles north of Route 7 Friday at 6:05 p. m., according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said the car of Walter S. Cable, 62, of Knoxville Rd., Toronto, was struck in the rear by one driven by William S. Swick, 16, of Toronto R. D. 1.

Cable was headed south and had stopped to make a left turn into a private driveway. Cable's car was knocked off the highway by the impact and into a power pole.

Cable suffered injuries to the right arm and shoulder. Swick suffered lacerations of the lip and tongue.

Swick was cited to Jefferson County Juvenile Court for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Traffic Flows Again On Flood-Hit U.S. 40

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—For the first time since the flash floods of early Wednesday, motorists found U.S. 40 open to two-way traffic through Cambridge late Friday. A weakened bridge at the western city limist had precluded this even after floodwaters receded.

As things gradually returned to normal in Guernsey County, word still was awaited as to whether state officials would request federal aid by designating this a disaster area. Gov. James A. Rhodes and four cabinet members toured the heavily damaged area by air Friday and Adj. Gen. Erwin C. Hostetler looked it over from the ground.

The Veterans Administration provides hospital training for one - third of the nation's new physicians.

Ex-Newell Resident Gets Post In Vermont

Vermont Gov. Phillip H. Hofi has appointed a former Newell resident to his Planning Council on state problems.

Ralph E. Williams of Rutland, Vt., son of Mrs. Stella Brooks, 115 Grant St., Newell, was the only labor leader named to the governor's committee.

Williams is an international representative for the United Stone & Allied Products Workers of America, affiliated with the AFL-CIO. Last September, he was elevated to president of the Vermont Labor Council from vice president. Mr. and Mrs. Williams reside in Rutland.

Bible School Staff Chosen

The staff has been named for Daily Vacation Bible School classes Monday through June 21 at the Grace United Presbyterian Church.

his cart when Jack was on the 11th and leading by one stroke. Jones stayed four holes, and Jack bogied three and double-bogied the other. By the time Jones realized he was putting pressure on Jack and left, Jack was three down, and he lost."

On a $1,000 JayCee scholarship, Jack entered Ohio State University, turning down more handsome athletic scholarships because he felt the schools were more interested in developing his muscle than intelligence. He needed only a few more credits for a degree when he decided to turn professional, but a university administrator refused to allow him to continue school, saying he "didn't need an education on a golf course."

You get an insight into the competitiveness beneath Nicklaus' benign exterior when he discusses this disappointment. "I'm going back for a degree as soon as I have full PGA membership, say in five years or so," he states emphatically. Why? After all, he will earn an estimated $200,000 this year as golf star, and he admits a degree to him is "just a piece of paper." The answer is in Nicklaus' character: (1) he is a perfectionist who must finish everything he starts; (2) he considers the arbitrary decision to drop him from the university an affront to him personally as well as to all athletes. "Imagine," he says icily, "an educator telling somebody he doesn't need an education—imagine!"

As a freshman at the university, Jack met a home-town coed, Barbara Bash. By the time spring came, Barbara must have had a good idea that this was the Big Romance because she took golf as a physical-education course, as Jack explains it, "just to know what I was doing."

When discussing his own game, Nicklaus usually is vague. But he can recite almost every stroke Barbara took: "The girls practiced in the gym for most of the class, but as a final exam they went out on a course and played five holes. Barbara was only two over par her first time out, and she quit right then. Said she knew enough—and that was it!"

Recently Barbara has taken to the links again with her husband, and Jack then foregoes his maddeningly slow brand of golf "just to have fun." But the couple spends much more time revising an architect's plans for a sprawling five-bedroom cedar-and-stone home to be built very near the local golf course. It will have a trophy room and inclosed formal garden—but no driving range. "I divorce myself from golf when I come home," says Jack.

EVERYTHING appears on the way up for the Nicklaus family as the U. S. Open approaches. In his second year as a pro, Jack already is golf's leading money winner. He hopes both his wife and father will be on hand for the tourney at Brookline, Mass. Even his own recurrent illness, a trick hip, seems dormant. And best of all, Jack, who looks much heftier on a tv screen than in person, has found a doctor who confirms what he suspected all along. On a recent afternoon while en route to a fishing date with his dad, Jack came charging home, calling to Barbara:

"The doctor just told me I'm the right weight for my build—about 205, and the waist is only 35 inches! Says if I diet down too much, I'd lose stamina. Let's have lunch! I'm starved!"

That boyish upstart from Columbus just can't go wrong. He can't even eat himself out of championships.

Shrinks Hemorrhoids New Way Without Surgery

STOPS ITCH — RELIEVES PAIN

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!".

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. Ask for it at all drug counters.

BACKACHE

If backache and symptomatic pains in joints and muscles make you feel miserable and tired, try world-famous DeWitt's Pills for their positive analgesic action. Besides bringing fast palliative relief of pain, DeWitt's Pills use mild diuretic action to help your system clear out acid wastes left by sluggish kidneys. DeWitt's Pills can relieve backache miseries and help you lead a more active life.

Lawrence and Patricia Ford with their son Randy. Another baby is on the way.

BABIES FOR BARREN

FOR THE FIRST three years of their marriage, Patricia and Larry Ford, of Columbus, Ohio, lived under a continual strain.

They wanted very much to start raising a family. But Patty—blonde, blue-eyed, and ordinarily a cheerfully bubbling young woman—had endometriosis, a common disease of the uterus which prevents reproduction. Month after frustrating month she waited, aware that the longer the ailment persisted, the less were her chances of ever achieving motherhood.

Patty's doctors tried surgery, but it didn't help. Then she went through a long series of examinations and tests—none of which had positive results. "I was tired of going around in circles," Patty recalled the other day. "Visiting my doctor was a nightmare. And at my bridge club, all my friends had babies, and that's all they talked about. I grew irritable and despondent and quit the club because I felt left out.

"At 30, I knew my chances were getting slimmer. Larry and I thought of adoption. Once I heard of a baby that we might get, and we were seriously tempted—but instead I told another couple about it. You see, we still had hopes."

Then one day Patty read in a newspaper that a prominent professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Ohio State University Medical School had received a grant for a special research project involving infertility. Patty went to see him. The doctor told her he was clinically testing a new hormone pill, dydrogesterone. Did she want to try it? Patty jumped at the opportunity.

For four months, Patty took the hormone pill. During the fifth month she became pregnant.

Jack Nicklaus—Golf's Boy Wonder

At 23, he's 1963's top money winner and aiming for a second U.S. Open championship next week—with a close-knit family as his cheering section

The Nicklauses—Barbara, Jackie, pet Neppy, and Jack. Steve's a newcomer.

By JACK RYAN

AT 23, JACK NICKLAUS has won enough amateur and pro golf tournaments to appear almost blasé about taking the coveted Masters in Augusta, Ga., this spring.

And he is blasé about the professional aspects of it. About the personal ones—well, that's different. When he recalls striding toward the clubhouse after clinching Augusta's symbolic green jacket, emotion jars his usually even voice.

"I saw Dad in the crowd," he says. "He had followed me the whole round and looked just fine. I guess I got as big a kick out of that as I did out of winning."

It wasn't evident to the gallery or the television audience that day, but more than just tournament pressure had weighed on young Nicklaus as he went after the first leg of every pro golfer's dream, the grand slam—victories in the Masters, the U. S. Open (in which Jack is an odds-on favorite next week), the British Open, and the PGA.

For one thing, in a modest two-bedroom home in the Arlington section of Columbus, Ohio, Jack's attractive blonde wife, Barbara, was expecting their second child any day.

"We had to have the doctor help me plan my golf schedule this spring," Jack says. "There was a spot right after the Masters when he figured Barbara could deliver, so I planned to take off from the circuit then to be with her. When I left for Augusta, the doctor told me not to worry—but, of course, you can never tell." With that afterthought, Nicklaus concedes that even his renowned powers of fairway concentration can be haunted by personal problems.

Added to this doubt was the insistence of Jack's father, L. Charles Nicklaus, on following his son's fortunes over the Augusta links, although only a few months before he had suffered a serious illness. In the late rounds of the Masters, however, Charley Nicklaus came on as strong as his bull-like son and finished beside Jack at the awards presentation. "Dad always has been at the big ones with me," Jack says, "but I had wondered if he ought to try to make this one."

To make the ending a thoroughly happy one, both returned to Columbus in time for the on-dot delivery of the newest Nicklaus, Steve, who joins Jackie, a 19-month-old mirror of his father's vivid blue eyes and rusty red complexion, in the close-knit Nicklaus clan.

From the beginning, the Nicklaus story has been a family one, and, appropriately, it is best told by senior member Charley Nicklaus, tennis champ, seven-handicap golfer, and college and pro football player. He usually picks it up by referring to another bad time he experienced more than 10 years ago.

"I broke a bone in my ankle, and the doctors told me to walk on soft ground at first. I missed playing sports, so I decided to do my walking on a golf course. I took Jack along. He had played a lot of sports and was good at them all, but this was his first exposure to golf. The pro at Scioto Country Club, Jack Grout, took a look at Jack's swing and said to me, 'I'd like to teach that boy before anybody else gets hold of him.'"

On the first nine holes he played, Jack shot a 51. The following year he was shooting in the low 80s, and at 13 had broken 70 over Scioto's 7,000-yard layout. Nicklaus acknowledges Grout's training as a decisive factor in his play ("The only thing I picked up from my dad," he says, "was my overlapping grip."), and when in Miami, where Grout is now a pro, he still consults him.

"NOBODY PRACTICED MORE than Jack," Charley Nicklaus says. "He'd play 36 holes a day, then hit 500 or 600 balls. He was always calling up Grout, asking him questions." Nicklaus, proprietor of a chain of Columbus drugstores, built a driving range in the basement for Jack's winter practice and soon had to start a trophy room as the boy piled up amateur championships, including the National Amateur twice.

Even as a youngster, Nicklaus displayed the deliberate coolness that distinguishes his play today. Only once does his father recall his being rattled. That was in 1955 when Jack was the youngest player in the U.S. Amateur. His boyhood hero, Bobby Jones, golfdom's only grand slammer, was so impressed by Jack's drives that he decided to follow the youth.

"When Jack learned this," says Charley, "he tossed and turned all night. The next day Jones came up on

MARRIAGES

By THEODORE IRWIN

who seem to be "permanently" childless can have youngsters of their own

"When my obstetrician confirmed the news, we went kind of wild," Patty says. "It was my Christmas present to the baby's grandparents. Larry and I celebrated by going dining and dancing. Of course, I thanked my doctor and told him, 'You did the impossible,' but he merely grinned.

"When we had Randy—our baby—I felt there was a completion in our marriage that wasn't there before. He is such a joy to us. And you know—I joined the bridge club again. I love to talk about babies now."

In July, Patty will have another child. This pregnancy came with no delay, but she is taking the pills to be sure she will retain the baby.

In another section of Columbus, pert, pretty, dark-eyed Mrs. Margerite (Peggy) Oates—a former Miss Ohio—also had gone through a period of despair, convinced she would never have a baby. Peggy, too, had endometriosis. A year after her marriage, an ovary had to be removed.

"I felt panicky," she says. "Life had no meaning without children."

Another Success Story

Like Patty, Peggy became part of the professor's project at University Hospital and took the dydrogesterone pills. Peggy's mother had some qualms about her using a new drug because of the furor over thalidomide, which had caused tragic birth deformities. But Peggy, who is a nurse (her husband is a medical student), had complete confidence in her obstetrician.

"I was eager," she says, "to do anything which offered a ray of promise."

In January, 1962, Peggy gave birth to a healthy, bouncing son, Scott. Last February she had a second baby, David. On a recent afternoon, as a husky little Scotty toddled around her living room, Peggy remarked: "When you produce something like this with a pill, anything is worth trying. I've been saved a lifetime of heartache."

Recently, the professor invited to lunch a group of patients who had taken the hormone pills successfully. One woman in her mid-30s had been trying in vain to have a baby for nine years. Another had had six miscarriages. A third had had one child, then had gone for years without another pregnancy.

Elsewhere in the nation, through other fertility drugs and techniques, prospects are brightening for women who have been denied motherhood. At least one out of 10 married couples in the U.S. have difficulty in having children. To these 8,000,000 people, infertility is a baffling and heartbreaking deprivation. One of the most touching appeals a doctor hears is, "We want to have a child, but we've tried and failed. Please, can you help us?"

Today, the good news is that, through advances of medical science and increasing knowledge by doctors, one out of three couples (and even 50 percent of certain types) who seem to be "permanently" sterile can be guided toward a family enriched by a nursery. Medical authorities are emphatic about the progress being made. "Many conditions which couldn't be corrected a few years ago now can be cured," points out Dr. A. J. Sobrero, a New York infertility specialist.

Hormone treatment probably is the major contributor to this advance. A vast amount of infertility is due to hormone deficiences, according to Dr. Jacoba C. de Neef, Ohio State University gynecologist. The new dydrogesterone pill, a synthetic substitute for the female hormone progesterone, is being used to treat a broad range of menstrual disorders as well as to prevent miscarriages. After years of testing, it has been cleared by the Food and Drug Administration and made available to all doctors. In one series of tests with the drug, Dr. Matt H. Backer, Jr., of the St. Louis University School of Medicine, reported that 78 percent of hitherto infertile patients maintained a successful pregnancy.

A Drug for Hormone Deficiency

Another hormone drug, hydroxyprogesteron caproate, also has proved effective with about four out of five women who previously had had three or more consecutive miscarriages. For women who have a hormone deficiency, such drugs provide a suitable "nest" in which the embryo can grow if conception occurs.

Other drugs such as cortisone can stimulate defective ovaries. And when Fallopian-tube surgery is necessary, the operation is successful in at least half the cases, says Dr. John Rock, Harvard gynecologist.

On the theory that some women have repeated miscarriages because they are allergic to their husbands, doctors at Tufts Medical School in Boston have grafted a small patch of skin from the husband to the wife's arm. The idea is to "immunize" her against irritant substances within the husband. Results so far indicate that most of the women went on to have uneventful pregnancies. Some who had miscarried as many as eight times delivered normal babies.

To help the childless, a doctor must first get at the causes, of which there is a bewildering variety. A wife may be unable to conceive because of a disease, faulty development of reproductive organs, failure of endocrine glands to function, a defect in the nervous system, or a chronic infection. Fatigue, poor diet, lack of exercise, and overweight also can be responsible.

But in at least one-third of the cases, infertility is due to some obstruction in the Fallopian tubes. The blockage may be caused by infection or a noncancerous growth in the womb's wall. This is where surgery helps.

Men May Be at Fault, Too

But wives are not entirely at fault. In two out of five cases, lack of an heir can be traced to the husband. Male sterility may be the aftermath of mumps as an adult or it might result from an injury, excessive drinking, or a disease like undulant fever. Sometimes it may stem from a man's job—an X-ray technician, for instance.

Can the roots of infertility be purely psychological? Many medical authorities contend that emotional conflicts—fear of childbirth, poor adjustment to marriage, a feud with in-laws—can interfere with reproductive processes by causing spasms of the Fallopian tubes. Nervous tension can clog the tubes as one's throat chokes up during an emotional crisis.

Psychiatrists often have encountered infertile women who became pregnant once their emotional barriers were removed. The mere decision to seek medical help may improve a couple's chances. At the Duke University fertility clinic, as well as at the Yale clinic, it was found that a great many "infertile" women became pregnant shortly after their first visit. Since medical treatment would not have been effective so soon, this seems to bear out the psychological factor. Dr. Alan E. Gutmacher, the distinguished New York obstetrician and gynecologist, says: "Apparently medical attention reduces anxiety and creates a favorable, relaxed atmosphere for conception."

Whatever the underlying causes, they must be pinpointed before a suitable remedy can be recommended. Like a detective, the doctor has to solve the mystery, first determining the degree of infertility and then uncovering the reasons for it. If physical examination and simple tests on the husband show he is normal, the wife will undergo a diagnostic survey.

Treatment depends on the diagnosis. For husbands, an operation may be necessary or he may need only a corrective diet, rest, exercise, vitamins, a thyroid extract, or cutting down on drinking and smoking. Recently developed drugs to curb mental depression may also help restore male fertility.

For women, treatments are as varied as the possible causes. They may be placed on special diets. Infections are cleared up. When the problem is psychological, the couple may be referred to a psychiatrist. But since the major causes of sterility are physical in nature, its conquest is apt to depend on medical advances such as the hormone pills.

NOT EVERY barren couple can be helped. No drug discovered thus far is a sure cure for sterility. Persons with congenital defects—those born without the means for reproduction— should not expect miracles. Nor can a woman who has had a pelvic disease requiring removal of organs look forward to motherhood. But in other cases, most young childless couples have as much as a 50-50 chance today.

Persistency often pays off. Consider, for example, the case of Mrs. Ann Forster, 34, of Trenton, N.J. During her 12 years of marriage, she suffered eight miscarriages, each time losing her baby before the third month.

"I was discouraged, of course," she says, "and I felt awful that I couldn't bear my husband a child. But Bob and I didn't brood. We kept hoping and trying to find an answer. I took dozens of tests, my thyroid was checked and all that. Still nothing happened. Finally a new obstetrician I went to gave me hormone injections—and last January our baby was born!

"With our Betty, a whole new world has opened up to us. Sometimes, when we're watching tv in the evening and we hear Betty making sounds in her crib, I say to Bob, 'Gee, she's really ours!' We thank God many times for answering our prayers."

Thus it's evident that, in the light of medical progress, a childless couple need not give up all hope. Here are vital pointers for would-be parents as recommended by leading infertility specialists:

1. You should start to be concerned when pregnancy has not occurred after one year of normal relations.

2. Don't delay in seeking medical advice. One study showed that among women who sought help after one year of infertility, 42 percent became pregnant; of those who waited 10 years, only 22 percent succeeded. The highest fertility rate in women is between the ages of 20 and 25; after that, it gradually declines.

3. Remember that early recognition of any physical defect may prevent further damage. Later, it may be beyond repair. Wives who have a serious menstrual disturbance especially should seek medical help early.

4. Be patient. A full diagnostic study of wife and husband may take six months, and treatment as long as a year or more.

5. If your family doctor is not equipped to give a complete diagnostic

MY OASIS is surrounded by the shifting sands of do-it-yourselfers.

The Garbers, who built their own beautiful contemporary redwood house, fail to disturb my calm. That's because it would be as easy for me to construct a gantry out of bobby pins.

But Mr. Garber in the garden is another matter entirely. He and the Christensens, the Troutners, the Davises, and others of their industrious ilk are ruining my summer.

When I pitched my tent here last winter, the neighborhood was as deserted as a desert. No footstep marred the snow, no ice-laden shrub was touched by human hand. It was pure wide-screen paradise in glorious black and white.

Now that summer is at hand, it's a technicolor stampede.

First, Mr. Garber grabbed a rake and attacked the leaves. Then Mr. Troutner tackled the rosebushes with a two-edged sword. Mrs. Davis donned battle regalia and waded in on the weeds. Mrs. Christensen is conducting grub warfare.

FROM MY TENT, I survey this massive onslaught with grave misgivings. There are dead leaves in my bushes, dead stalks in my flower beds. A lilac at the corner of the house has infiltrated the evergreens, and the weeping willow sobs its twigs all over the back yard. I am surrounded by the roar of mowers, the whisper of hoes, the boom of axes, and a rat-tat-tat of rakes.

In my comfortable hammock, I can see Mr. Grooters making contact with Mrs. Kercheval across the fence. There is a murmur of something that sounded like "blight on the neighborhood." I'm not sure whether this means me or my lawn. Or both.

So, from my beleaguered position, I wish to issue the following communiqué: I have sent for reinforcements. Tomorrow mine will be the neatest headquarters in the area. Who can quarrel with a neighbor reposing in a hammock on a lawn 100 feet wide, 200 feet long, and composed entirely of bright green cement?

"Muriel, where's the instant Sunday dinner?"

A panhandler walked up to a well-dressed gentleman and asked, "Could you spare $5 for a poor unfortunate?"

"Five dollars!" exclaimed the gentleman. "Isn't that a lot of money to ask for?"

"Yes, it is," the panhandler admitted, "but I'm not feeling very well today, and I thought I'd quit work early and go home."

A GOLDEN 65 MESSAGE TO ALL FOLKS 65 AND OVER...

"Drugs and prescriptions are so expensive. I want a policy that helps pay these bills, even though I'm not hospitalized."

"My first heart attack took all my savings. I want major-expense benefits if I have another."

The real key to the peace of mind that all senior citizens deserve is ample accident and sickness protection. Now—for those of you who have no health insurance, or wish to add major-expense coverage to your basic plan—here is another chance to get exactly what you need.

Enrollment open from June 2 through June 27 ONLY!

GOLDEN 65

HOSPITAL/SURGICAL/MEDICAL INSURANCE

Anyone 65 or over can choose the benefits they need and join any or all 3 plans

If you want BASIC HOSPITAL-SURGICAL protection, this is the plan that starts paying from the moment expenses begin—and pays in addition to any other plan you may have

65 plus

65 PLUS costs only $6.50 a month

- Pays the actual cost of hospital room and board up to $10.00 a day for as long as 31 days for each sickness or accident.
- Pays the actual cost of hospital extras up to $100.00 maximum.
- Pays for surgery of every type in or out of the hospital on a schedule from $5.00 to $200.00. (Example: $5.00 for removal of toenail; $75.00 for broken thigh bone; $200.00 for removal of prostate.)
- You are immediately protected on accidents which occur or sickness which originates after the issue date of your policy.
- You are also protected for conditions you had before your policy was issued, provided the hospital confinement begins—surgical operation is performed—after your policy has been in force for six months.

If you want MAJOR-EXPENSE protection, this is the plan that pays the really big bills—offers extended benefits all the way up to $10,000 lifetime maximum

10,000 reserve

10,000 RESERVE costs only $9.50 a month

Each calendar year after your eligible expenses have reached $500, the 10,000 RESERVE plan will pay 75% of all further eligible expenses, during the calendar year, up to $10,000 lifetime maximum.

Pay 75% of these eligible expenses

- Up to $25.00 eligible expense for room and board for each day of hospital confinement.
- Provides as eligible expense all necessary hospital expenses while hospital confined.
- Up to $10.00 eligible expense a day for each day of Skilled Nursing Home confinement up to a maximum of $1,000.00 eligible expense for each calendar year.
- Provides as eligible expense surgery of every type in or out of the hospital on a schedule from $5.00 to $300.00 (Example: $5.00 for removal of a wart; $100.00 for varicose veins; $300.00 for removal of lung.)
- Up to $4.00 eligible expense a day for one visit of a doctor for every day while confined in a hospital.
- Up to $6.50 eligible expense a day for one home visit of a Visiting Nurse.
- You are immediately protected for any accident that occurs or sickness that commences after the effective date of your policy.
- You are also protected for conditions you had before your policy was issued, provided your hospital confinement begins after your policy has been in force at least six months.

If you want OUT-OF-HOSPITAL protection, this is the plan that pays prescription drug charges—doctors' office and house calls—rental of equipment—expenses as a hospital out-patient

5,000 medical

5,000 MEDICAL costs only $5.00 a month

Each calendar year after your eligible expenses for any out-of-hospital costs have reached $100, the 5,000 MEDICAL plan will pay 75% of all further eligible expenses, during that calendar year, up to $5,000 lifetime maximum.

Pays 75% of these eligible expenses

- Up to $6.50 eligible expense a day for doctor house calls and $5.00 a day for visits to doctor's office.
- Provides as eligible expense all hospital expenses for care received as an out-patient.
- Provides as eligible expense all prescription drugs.
- Provides as eligible expenses costs of blood and blood plasma, artificial limbs, rental of wheel chair, hospital bed or iron-lung, oxygen and rental equipment, initial cost of trusses and crutches.
- Provides as eligible expenses costs of diagnostic laboratory and X-ray procedures on a schedule. (Example: $2.00 for routine urinalysis; $8.00 for abdominal X-rays; $12.00 for EKG; $24.00 for upper G-I Tract.)
- You are immediately protected for any accident that occurs or sickness that commences after the effective date of your policy. Conditions for which you have previously been treated are covered after your policy has been in force six months.

*Exclusions for 65 PLUS; 10,000 RESERVE; 5,000 MEDICAL plans

You are covered anywhere in the world against all kinds of injuries or illness except those caused by war or mental illness; or covered by Workmen's Compensation or Occupational Disease Law, except in West Virginia; losses for which benefits are payable under a federal or state welfare program or confinement in federal government hospitals, except in California and New Jersey; confinement in Veteran's Administration hospitals; confinement in local government mental or tuberculosis hospitals; and, in Louisiana, Texas and Tennessee, treatment or service for tuberculosis. Note: in North Carolina only, policy must be in force six months before sickness benefits can begin.

Minted Cantaloupe Balls

½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons cornstarch
Few grains salt
12 mint leaves
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 drops green food coloring
Mint sprigs

1. Using a melon-ball cutter, cut out balls (about 3 cups) from cantaloupe; cover and chill thoroughly.

2. Mix sugar, cornstarch, and salt together in a saucepan. Blend in the water. Stir in mint leaves and bruise by pressing with back of a spoon. Stirring constantly, bring rapidly to boiling and cook until mixture is transparent and slightly thickened.

3. Remove from heat; cool slightly and strain. Mix in butter or margarine and then food coloring. Chill.

4. To serve, turn chilled melon balls into a chilled serving bowl and pour sauce over them. Garnish bowl with sprigs of mint.

About 6 servings

Help-Yourself Fresh Fruit Bar—Line up small serving dishes filled with chilled Minted Cantaloupe Balls, fresh berries, and other fresh fruits in season. Allow guests to help themselves to any one or a combination of the fruits.

Pineapple Spiral De Luxe

2 pkgs. active dry yeast
½ cup warm water, 110°F to 115°F
(Or if using compressed yeast, soften 2 cakes in ½ cup lukewarm water, 80°F to 85°F.)
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¾ cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
¾ cup sugar
3 eggs, well beaten
3½ to 4 cups flour
1 1-lb., 14-oz. can crushed pineapple, drained (2 cups)
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
⅔ cup semisweet chocolate pieces

1. Soften yeast in warm water; let stand 10 to 15 min.

2. Heat sour cream in top of double boiler over simmering water until edges become slightly yellow. Cool slightly. (Separation of cream will not affect quality of product.)

3. Meanwhile, blend next three ingredients together; set aside.

4. Cream butter or margarine and lemon peel together. Add ¾ cup sugar gradually, creaming until fluffy after each addition. Add eggs in thirds, beating well after each addition. Blend in sour cream.

5. Blend in reserved mixture of dry ingredients, beating until smooth. Stir softened yeast and add, mixing well. Beat in enough of the remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn dough onto a lightly floured surface and allow to rest 5 to 10 min.

6. Knead dough until smooth and elastic, 5 to 8 min. Form into a smooth ball and put into a lightly greased deep bowl. Turn dough to bring greased surface to top. Cover with waxed paper and a towel and let stand in a warm place, about 80°F, until dough is doubled, about 2 hrs.

7. Punch down dough with fist; pull edges in to center and turn dough completely over in bowl. Cover and let rise again until nearly doubled.

8. Again punch down dough and turn out onto a lightly floured surface. Allow to rest 5 to 10 min.

9. Meanwhile, mix the remaining ingredients together.

10. Divide dough into halves; roll each half into a rectangle 20x9 in. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Spread one-half of the pineapple mixture evenly over each surface. Starting with the long side of dough, roll up and press long edges to seal. Flatten rolls slightly.

11. Cut lengthwise through center, dividing rolls into two 20-in. strips. Starting at the center of a lightly greased baking sheet, loosely coil one strip into a spiral, keeping cut edge up. Join second strip to first and continue coiling the dough to make a 9-in. round coffee cake. Using a second baking sheet, repeat for second coffee cake.

12. Cover each with waxed paper and a towel and let rise until doubled in bulk, about 30 min.

13. Bake at 350°F about 30 min., or until lightly browned. Remove to cooling racks and while still warm, drizzle with Confectioners' Sugar Icing. Two coffee cakes

Confectioners' Sugar Icing—Blend ½ cup confectioners' sugar, 1 tablespoon milk, and ½ teaspoon vanilla extract together thoroughly.

INCLUDING THOSE WHO HAVE BASIC BLUE CROSS

Your doctor, your own insurance agent, your lawyer will tell you what fine protection this is. Talk it over with them, but do it soon. This enrollment period must end midnight, June 27th.

65 PLUS offers basic protection

If you do not have any health insurance at all, the 65 PLUS (OA series) plan offers you excellent basic hospital-surgical protection. If you now have basic Blue Cross, or any similar basic hospital coverage, by all means keep it. You are still eligible to join 10,000 RESERVE or 5,000 MEDICAL—or both—and add these wonderful major-medical benefits to your total protection.

10,000 RESERVE is for the big bills

10,000 RESERVE (OD series) is designed for really big expenses and to start paying benefits when bills get "too big" for you to handle, or most of the benefits of your basic plan have "run out." To do this, 10,000 RESERVE has a "deductible" feature that works very much the same as the "deductible" feature used in auto collision insurance. Each calendar year after you, or 65 PLUS, or any other basic plan you may have, has paid the first $500 of eligible expenses, the 10,000 RESERVE plan goes into effect and pays 75% of all further eligible expenses during that calendar year up to a lifetime maximum of $10,000. Then, after any proven continuous 6-month period without treatment, you are eligible again for another $10,000 in benefits. As you can see, the 10,000 RESERVE plan in no way conflicts with any basic plan you may now have. It is the perfect "companion" policy to add to any basic plan.

5,000 MEDICAL plan is for out-of-hospital expenses

The 5,000 MEDICAL (OE series) plan offers protection against out-of-hospital expenses and also features a deductible. Each calendar year after your eligible out-of-hospital expenses have reached $100, the 5,000 MEDICAL plan takes over and pays 75% of all further eligible expenses during that calendar year up to a lifetime maximum of $5,000. Then, after any proven continuous 6-month period without treatment, you are eligible again for another $5,000 in benefits. This is the first plan of its kind ever offered to anyone and everyone 65 or over!

Under 65?

If you are 64 now, plan to join one or more of these plans when you reach 65. Clip the coupon now and save it. Mail it to us within 30 days before or after your 65th birthday and you will be enrolled.

Sons and daughters enroll your parents

Signature of the insured is not required

If you have an older relative in your family, many of you will want to give him or her one or more of these policies and make the premium payments yourself. It's a wise and wonderful idea. Just fill out the enrollment blank and indicate where the premium notices are to be sent.

Income Tax Note: If you declare a parent or relative as a dependent on your Federal Income Tax, your payments of premiums for this health insurance are 100% tax deductible.

Regardless of your past or present health—

- Everybody accepted
- No health questions
- No physical exam to qualify

This is your Guarantee...

As long as you pay your premium, your policy will never be cancelled, no changes will ever be made unless done so to all policyholders in your state. Of course, you have the right to cancel your policy at any time. MONEY BACK GUARANTEE: After you have received your policy, or policies, and examine it, if you are not 100% satisfied, return it within ten days and your first month's premium will be refunded.

For the purpose of satisfying your deductible and calculating benefits payable for 10,000 RESERVE and 5,000 MEDICAL, the first calendar year is that period commencing on the effective date of your policy and ending December 31 of the same year in which your coverage becomes effective; after the first year, each calendar year is from January 1st through December 31st. Eligible expenses incurred toward the deductible during the last 90 days of the first policy year will be counted towards the deductible of the next calendar year.

MEMBER OF THE CONTINENTAL NATIONAL INSURANCE GROUP

or any similar basic hospital coverage

Your doctor, your own insurance agent, your lawyer will tell you what fine protection this is. Talk it over with them, but do it soon. This enrollment period must end midnight, June 27th.

65 PLUS offers basic protection

If you do not have any health insurance at all, the 65 PLUS (OA series) plan offers you excellent basic hospital-surgical protection. If you now have basic Blue Cross, or any similar basic hospital coverage, by all means keep it. You are still eligible to join 10,000 RESERVE or 5,000 MEDICAL—or both—and add these wonderful major-medical benefits to your total protection.

10,000 RESERVE is for the big bills

10,000 RESERVE (OD series) is designed for really big expenses and to start paying benefits when bills get "too big" for you to handle, or most of the benefits of your basic plan have "run out." To do this, 10,000 RESERVE has a "deductible" feature that works very much the same as the "deductible" feature used in auto collision insurance. Each calendar year after you, or 65 PLUS, or any other basic plan you may have, has paid the first $500 of eligible expenses, the 10,000 RESERVE plan goes into effect and pays 75% of all further eligible expenses during that calendar year up to a lifetime maximum of $10,000. Then, after any proven continuous 6-month period without treatment, you are eligible again for another $10,000 in benefits. As you can see, the 10,000 RESERVE plan in no way conflicts with any basic plan you may now have. It is the perfect "companion" policy to add to any basic plan.

5,000 MEDICAL plan is for out-of-hospital expenses

The 5,000 MEDICAL (OE series) plan offers protection against out-of-hospital expenses and also features a deductible. Each calendar year after your eligible out-of-hospital expenses have reached $100, the 5,000 MEDICAL plan takes over and pays 75% of all further eligible expenses during that calendar year up to a lifetime maximum of $5,000. Then, after any proven continuous 6-month period without treatment, you are eligible again for another $5,000 in benefits. This is the first plan of its kind ever offered to anyone and everyone 65 or over!

Under 65?

If you are 64 now, plan to join one or more of these plans when you reach 65. Clip the coupon now and save it. Mail it to us within 30 days before or after your 65th birthday and you will be enrolled.

Sons and daughters enroll your parents

Signature of the insured is not required

If you have an older relative in your family, many of you will want to give him or her one or more of these policies and make the premium payments yourself. It's a wise and wonderful idea. Just fill out the enrollment blank and indicate where the premium notices are to be sent.

Income Tax Note: If you declare a parent or relative as a dependent on your Federal Income Tax, your payments of premiums for this health insurance are 100% tax deductible.

Regardless of your past or present health—

• Everybody accepted • No health questions
• No physical exam to qualify

This is your Guarantee...

As long as you pay your premium, your policy will never be cancelled, no changes will ever be made unless done so to all policyholders in your state. Of course, you have the right to cancel your policy at any time. MONEY BACK GUARANTEE: After you have received your policy, or policies, and examine it, if you are not 100% satisfied, return it within ten days and your first month's premium will be refunded.

House-Party Brunch

Chafing-dish scrambled eggs accompanied by Glazed Pork Sausage Patties and toasted English muffins make an easy-on-the-hostess brunch combination.

Family Weekly Cookbook • MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

Party Scrambled Eggs

9 eggs
1 14½-oz. can (1⅔ cups) evaporated milk
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Few drops Tabasco
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
2 tablespoons snipped chives
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, cut in small pieces

1. To the eggs in a bowl, add evaporated milk and the next four ingredients. Beat until light and foamy. Stir in the snipped chives.

2. Pour boiling water to a depth of about 1 in. into the outer pan of a 1½-qt. chafing dish; set over heat. Heat butter or margarine in the blazer (inner pan) over the hot water until completely melted.

3. Pour in egg mixture, cover, and cook for 15 min. without stirring. Then stir once and continue cooking, covered, 15 min. longer.

4. Fold cream cheese pieces into the cooked eggs; cover and heat until cheese begins to melt, about 1 min.

6 to 8 servings

Glazed Pork Sausage Patties

1 lb. bulk pork sausage, shaped in patties about ½ in. thick
½ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
½ teaspoon basil
4 teaspoons cider vinegar
½ teaspoon grated onion

1. Put sausage patties into large, heavy skillet; add 1 to 2 tablespoons water, cover, and cook slowly for 5 min.

2. Remove cover; pour off liquid. Add a mixture of the remaining ingredients and cook, turning patties frequently, until browned and glazed. Serve immediately.

CLAUDIA CARDINALE:

Stardom, Italian Style

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

FOR THE FIRST TIME in almost a decade, Italy has produced a smoldering beauty who is likely to become a world-renowned personality like Sophia Loren. She's brown-eyed and brown-haired, 23-year-old Claudia Cardinale.

Recently I visited Claudia in Italy, and naturally I was struck by her sultry Mediterranean loveliness. But oddly enough, she also reminded me of an early-day Debbie Reynolds. Claudia's straightforwardness, simplicity, and innocence would be surprising in Hollywood—but in Rome it came as an absolute shock!

This may not be accidental. Claudia is the careful product of a resourceful Italian producer, Franco Cristaldi, who tutored and guided her with the utmost care and attention.

Claudia first came to public attention four years ago when she won the title, "Most Beautiful Italian Girl," in her native Tunis in North Africa. (Actually, she is of French and Italian origin.) First prize was a trip to Venice, and there she was spotted by Cristaldi, who put her under contract six months later.

When she returned to Italy, she brought along her entire family—her father (a technical engineer), her mother, her younger sister, and her two brothers. Cristaldi installed them in one of his own villas, staffed with servants, a secretary, a publicist, and a chauffeur, and promptly enrolled Claudia in an acting school in Rome.

The latter brought fierce resistance from his protégée. "I stayed for a month," Claudia told me, "and then I quit. I simply could not become a tree. That's what they asked me to do—grow and then fall and die like a tree. You call this 'the Method' in your country? I thought it was crazy."

Reassured by the tremendous success of her first picture, "Big Deal on Madonna Street," Cristaldi agreed that she could do without a formal acting education. Subsequent events have proved him right; she has won critical acclaim in 21 films—including "Bell' Antonio" opposite Marcello Mastroianni and "The Leopard" opposite Burt Lancaster. She currently is starring in "The Pink Panther" with David Niven, Peter Sellers, and Robert Wagner.

Claudia always had a mind of her own. As a teen-ager in Tunis, she was never allowed to go out by herself. "It just wasn't safe for young European girls," she recalls. "My parents were so concerned that when we were at our beach house, they had a servant girl sleep at the foot of my bed."

But Claudia's stubbornness was obvious to her parents at an early age. "When I was 15, it was fashionable to dress like a beatnik—you know, with black pull-over, black skirt, pony tail, and all that. But Mother refused to buy me black things, so I solved the problem by secretly dyeing a plaid skirt black and wearing it with a pull-over, which I also dyed."

Slanted eyes were in fashion, so Claudia pulled her eyes back every day. Since make-up was prohibited in the convent school she attended, she made up her eyes and eyebrows with a lead pencil the moment she left school.

CLAUDIA'S provincial upbringing hardly prepared her for international stardom. So as his first step, Cristaldi hired a young woman from Greensboro, N.C., to be her tutor. Caroline Pfeiffer taught Claudia to speak almost flawless English, supervised her manners, and accompanied her on shopping trips. Even now, whenever Claudia leaves the house, she is accompanied either by a member of her family or by Caroline.

It seems hard to believe that a breath-takingly beautiful girl like Claudia could lead such a restricted life. I asked her about it when I visited her at the handsomely furnished farmhouse outside Rome where she makes her home. "It's easy," she said with a smile. "When I'm not working, I spend one week a month in Paris. It's not hard to get lost in the crowd there."

There was one question left in my mind before I said good-by. "Don't you want to get married?"

"Someday, but not soon," she said without hesitation.

"Does that mean you're too ambitious now?"

"If I weren't ambitious, I wouldn't be in pictures," she said frankly.

So smart, so frank, and so beautiful. Move over, Sophia, Gina, and Brigitte.
